

Contents

Acknowledgments 9

Prelude A hundred years of bookbinding 11

Introduction The book, modernity, and material culture 25

The pictorial material in the study 27

The plan of the study and a comment on the translation 28

PART I BOOK CULTURE IN TRANSFORMATION

Chapter 1 From markets to the market 33

Binding practices 34

Publishing 43

The retail book trade 48

The retail book trade in Stockholm 53

Development from the 1870s 55

Publication output 58

Conditions in the book market around 1900 62

Chapter 2 Changing technology 65

Cloth 67

Casing 72

The blocking press and the importance of aesthetics 73

How the relationship between publisher and edition bookbinder reflects the relationship between economics and aesthetics 75

From craft to industry: The manufacture of bindings 78

Folding and gathering the sheets 78

Rolling 80

Sawing the back 81

Sewing 81

Endpapers and edges 83

Decorating the edges, rounding, and backing 84

Case making 87

Blocking 88

Casing-in 92

Blocks for decorating the case in the blocking press 92

The growth of Swedish edition binding 95

Franz Beck 96

Isak Elkan 97

Peder Herzog 98

Herzog's machinery 101

Structural changes in Swedish bookbinding 103

"The true principles of industrial art":

Some aspects of the effects of industrial production 106

What distinguishes industry from craft? 113

Chapter 3 The emergence of modern bookbinding practice:

Publishers' bindings and their form and use

in quantitative terms 116

Source material on the occurrence of publishers' bindings 116

Bibliographies 117

Publishers' catalogues 119

Trends in publishers' bindings, 1830–1910 123

Cloth bindings 129

Binding cases 135

"Wrappers" 137

Genres 138

Prices 149

Summing up the findings 151

PART II MODERNITY AND MATERIAL CULTURE

Chapter 4 Title-specific bindings

and the art of mass-producing the unique 155

The emergence of title-specific bindings 158

Chapter 5 Cloth bindings, their design and relationship to modern consumer society 172

Ornamentation: Tradition and innovation 173

A new world of pictures 183

The significance of pictures 196

Packaged modernity 203

“Now,” novelty, and emotion 209

Chapter 6 Using books 219

The book as furniture, the home as narrative 222

Appendix A Herzog’s technical equipment: Machinery before 1889 and a selection of purchases, 1889–1895 and 1905–1918 235

Appendix B Material for the study of publishers’ catalogues in chapter 3 244

Categories and binding types that occur in the study and in the table column headings 244

Genre classifications 248

Other comments 249

Catalogues included in the study 249

Tables 251

Illustrations 293

Diagrams 304

Tables 306