

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xv

PART I

A Political-Economic Perspective on Professionalization

1. A Political-Economic View of Professionalization	3
---	---

PART II

The Emergence of a Professional Social Work Enterprise: 1880–1916

2. Historical Context	21
3. The Earliest Definitions of the Social Work Commodity	30
4. Fashioning Social Work into Casework	46
5. Training the Commodity Producers	61
6. Neither Charity nor Enterprise: The State of Social Work at the End of the Progressive Era	70

PART III

The Growth and Consolidation of the Social Work Enterprise: 1916–29

7. Historical Context	77
8. Fashioning the Social Work Commodity	92
9. Funding and Elite Support for Social Work	107
10. Consolidating the Social Work Enterprise	115
11. Social Work Redefined	136

PART IVThe Creation of a Social Welfare Industry:
Social Work between 1930 and 1950

12. An Overview of the Social Work Enterprise: 1930-50	151
13. New Conditions, New Requirements: Misery Breeds Opportunity	155
14. Social Work Politics in a New Social Welfare Industry	167
15. The Radical Challenge to Professional Social Work	182
16. The Professional Enterprise Prevails: Reshaping the Social Work Commodity	208
17. Expanding the Enterprise: Social Group Work, Community Organization, and the Formation of NASW	225
18. Social Work Education	243
19. Continuing Dilemmas of Profession Building	256
Notes	271
References	283
Index	315