

Contents

Preface	9
I Introduction: Young Adults in Europe – Transitions, Policies and Social Change	11
Barbara Stauber & Andreas Walther
1. Misleading Trajectories as Transition Dilemmas of Young Adults	11
Overview over the Book	17
2. The Context of Comparative Transition Research in Europe	18
3. The Methodological Procedure	22
II Synopsis: The Diversity of National Transition Systems ...	27
Andreas Walther
1. Unemployment of Young People	27
2. Trajectories between School and Work	30
3. Labour Market Demands and Labour Market Integration Policies	35
4. Sources of Support for Young Adults in Transition	37
5. From Linear to 'Yo-yo'-Transitions	38
III Comparative Analysis of Misleading Trajectories	43
1. Misleading Trajectories between Standardisation and Flexibility – Great Britain, Italy and West Germany	44
Andy Biggart, Morena Cuconato, Andy Furlong, Gabriele Lenzi, Barbara Stauber, Mariateresa Tagliaventi & Andreas Walther
1.1 Institutional and Structural Differences	44
Education, Training and the Labour Market	44

The Impact of Welfare Systems on Youth Transitions	50
The Role of the Family in Supporting Transitions	53
1.2 Young People's Subjective Perspectives on Transitions	56
1.3 Integrating Structural and Subjective Dimensions of Misleading Trajectories.....	59
1.4 Conclusion	65
 2. Educational Plans in Segmented Societies: Misleading Trajectories in Denmark, East Germany and Spain	66
Lothar Böhnisch, Andreu López Blasco, Mathilde Mörch, Sven Mörch, Josetxo Errea Rodríguez & Holger Seifert
2.1 Youth and Change	66
2.2 Segmented Societies: the Logic of Segregation and Occupation	69
Educational Plans for Individual Trajectories	70
2.3 The Labour Market and the Education System in the Three Contexts	71
Spain	71
East Germany	73
Denmark	75
2.4 Education Systems in Comparison	77
Models of Education Systems	79
Differentiated Qualification	80
Educational Differentiation	81
Qualified Differentiation	82
Labour Market Governed Education Systems	83
The Orientation of Education	84
Education and Social Integration	85
2.5 Synopsis	86
 3. Modernised Transitions and Disadvantage Policies: Netherlands, Portugal, Ireland and Migrant Youth in Germany	94
Wim Plug, Elizabeth Kiely, Kerstin Hein, Vitor Sergio Ferreira, René Bendit, Manuela du Bois-Reymond & José Machado Pais
3.1 Introduction	94
3.2 Education Systems	94
3.3 Childhood and Youth: Definitions and Perspectives	97
3.4 The Transition from School to Work	99

3.5 Disadvantage and State Interventions in Education and the Labour Market	102
Discriminatory and Regulatory Legislation, Policies and Practices	102
Disadvantaged Groups	104
Policies for Disadvantaged Groups in Education and the Labour Market	107
3.6 Discussion	110
Types of Trajectories	110
State Measures and the Demands of the Labour Markets	113
Family and Welfare Support	114
Concluding Remarks	115
IV Leading or Misleading Trajectories?
Concepts and Perspectives	117
European Group for Integrated Social Research (EGRIS)
1. Contextualisation	117
1.1 Dimensions of Contextualisation	118
1.2 Transitions through Interlinked Contexts of Everyday Life	118
1.3 Conclusion Leading or Misleading I:
Cases Differ, Context Matters	120
2. Youth and Transitions Have Changed	120
2.1 From Social Reproduction in Youth Life towards Individualised Transitions?	121
2.2 Structure and Agency	125
2.3 Autonomy and Dependency	127
2.4 Conclusion Leading or Misleading II:
Subjective and Systemic Risks of Social Exclusion	129
3. Segmentation and Flexibilisation	131
3.1 Structures of Labour Market Entrance	132
3.2 Disadvantage Policies	136
3.3 Education: From Qualifications to Competencies?	142
3.4 Conclusion Leading or Misleading III:
'Leading' Trajectories through Participation	149

V Recommendations: Integrated Transition Policies	153
Manuela du Bois-Reymond, Morena Cuconato, Gabriele Lenzi, Andreu López Blasco, Barbara Stauber & Andreas Walther
1. The New Agenda: Integrating Transition Policies	154
2. Enhancing Institutions' Reflexivity by Research and Dialogue	156
3. Learning: Opening Access and Broadening the Fields of Competencies	159
3.1 Lifelong Learning in General Education and Vocational Training: A Critical Reference	160
3.2 Learning and Intrinsic Motivation	161
3.3 Good Example: The Recognition of Informal Learning	163
3.4 Conclusion	164
4. Work and Employment: Securing the Inclusive Effects of Flexibilisation	165
4.1 'Employability' and 'Activation': A Critical Reference.....	165
4.2 Transitional Labour Markets: Principles and Good Practices	166
Part-time Arrangements	167
Wage Subsidies for 'Real' Work	168
Transitions between Private Work and Gainful Employment	168
Encouraging and Assisting Self-Employment and Entrepreneurship	169
5. Social Security and Social Support: Prerequisites for Coping with Transition Risks	170
5.1 Income Security in Transition: Basic Income versus 'Rights and Responsibilities' ?.....	170
5.2 Assistance in Decision-Management: Counselling and Accompaniment	172
5.3 Consequences for the Settings of Social Support	173
6. Conclusion: The European Dimension of Integrated Transition Policies	174
References	179
Authors	191