

Contents

Preface xiii

Introduction. The Vietnam War: From Myth to History xvii

Guide to Abbreviations xxiii

Chronology xxv

Map of Vietnam xxix

---

1. The Setting: Colonialism and the Cold War (to 1954) 1

Emergence of a Nationalist Vision 4

1.1 Nguyen Dinh Chieu, funeral oration, 1861 4

1.2 Phan Boi Chau, call for Vietnamese to awaken, 1907 5

1.3 Phan Chu Trinh, open letter to the French governor-general, 1907 6

Ho Chi Minh's Rise to Prominence, 1919–1945 8

1.4 Recollections of discovering Communist anticolonialism in July 1920 8

1.5 Statement on behalf of the Indochinese Communist Party,
18 February 1930 10

1.6 Proclamation of the Viet Minh-led independence struggle,
6 June 1941 12

1.7 Declaration of independence, 2 September 1945 12

The Popular Appeal of Revolution 14

1.8 Nguyen Thi Dinh on her political awakening in the 1930s 14

1.9 Truong Nhu Tang on his conversion to the nationalist cause in the mid-1940s 17

1.10 Peasants in the Red River Delta on the Viet Minh in the late
1940s 19

Deepening U.S. Engagement in Indochina, 1943–1954 21

1.11 U.S. policy shifts from self-determination to containment,
1943–1950 22

1.12 Ho Chi Minh, denunciation of U.S. intervention, January 1952 24

1.13 The Eisenhower administration on the French collapse,
March–April 1954 25

---

2. Drawing the Lines of Conflict, 1954–1963 29

A Country Divided or United? July 1954–December 1960 32

- 2.1 Ho Chi Minh, report to the Communist Party Central Committee, 15 July 1954 32
- 2.2 “Final Declaration of the Geneva Conference,” 21 July 1954 33
- 2.3 The Eisenhower administration on the Geneva accords, July and October 1954 34
- 2.4 Ngo Dinh Diem, speech to the Council on Foreign Relations, 13 May 1957 36
- 2.5 Hanoi goes on the offensive, 1959–1960 37

The Perspective of NLF Activists 41

- 2.6 Le Van Chan, interview on rural organizing during the late 1950s 41
- 2.7 Regroupees interviewed on returning to the South in the early 1960s 44

Reacting to NLF Success, 1961–1963 46

- 2.8 The Kennedy administration wrestles with an insurgency, November 1961 47
- 2.9 Central Intelligence Agency, secret memo on the NLF, 29 November 1963 49

The Diem Regime in Crisis, July–November 1963 50

- 2.10 John F. Kennedy, press conference, 17 July 1963 50
- 2.11 Diem, press interview, 26 July 1963 51
- 2.12 Communist leaders' appraisals of the U.S. position, summer and fall 1963 52
- 2.13 The Kennedy administration contemplates a coup, August–November 1963 53

---

3. From Proxy War to Direct Conflict, 1963–1965 57

The Saigon Government on the Ropes, November 1963–August 1965 59

- 3.1 A new president faces an old problem, November–December 1963 59
- 3.2 Communist Party Central Committee, resolution 9, December 1963 61
- 3.3 PAVN officer, interview on the military effort, 1963–1964 64
- 3.4 James B. Lincoln, letter comparing Vietnamese forces, 14 August 1965 65

Johnson Escalates, August 1964–April 1965 66

- 3.5 Tonkin Gulf resolution approved by Congress, 10 August 1964 67
- 3.6 McGeorge Bundy to Lyndon Johnson, 7 February 1965 68
- 3.7 Johnson, speech at Johns Hopkins University, 7 April 1965 69

Hanoi Prepares for War, October 1964–May 1965 71

- 3.8 Conversations between Vietnamese and Chinese leaders, October 1964 and April 1965 71
- 3.9 Pham Van Dong, statement on terms for a settlement, 8 April 1965 73
- 3.10 Le Duan, letter to Nguyen Chi Thanh on U.S. military escalation, May 1965 73

“Going off the Diving Board,” June–July 1965 75

- 3.11 Johnson, comments to Robert McNamara, 21 June 1965 76
- 3.12 George Ball opposes a major troop commitment, June–July 1965 77
- 3.13 McNamara, memo to Johnson, 20 July 1965 79
- 3.14 Johnson, meetings with advisers, 21–25 July 1965 80
- 3.15 Johnson, press conference statement, 28 July 1965 83

---

4. The Lords of War, 1965–1973 85

Strategies for Victory, September–November 1965 87

- 4.1 Le Duan, letter to comrades in COSVN, November 1965 88
- 4.2 William Westmoreland, directive to U.S. commanders, 17 September 1965 89
- 4.3 McNamara’s deepening doubts, November 1965 and May 1967 90

The Tet Offensive Gamble, July 1967–March 1968 93

- 4.4 Hanoi’s difficult strategic decision, July 1967 and January 1968 93
- 4.5 The impact on the Johnson administration, March 1968 96
- 4.6 Communist Party assessment, March 1968 98

Getting beyond Stalemate, November 1968–July 1969 100

- 4.7 DRV delegation, meeting with Chinese leaders, 17 November 1968 100
- 4.8 Richard Nixon plots a way out, March–May 1969 103
- 4.9 Ninth COSVN conference, resolution, early July 1969 105

Talking and Fighting, April 1970–January 1973 106

- 4.10 Nixon, address on the invasion of Cambodia, 30 April 1970 106
- 4.11 Le Duan, letter to COSVN leaders, July 1970 107
- 4.12 Henry Kissinger and Xuan Thuy, exchange of views,
7 September 1970 110
- 4.13 Nixon and Kissinger, taped Oval Office conversation,
2 June 1971 111
- 4.14 Nixon and Kissinger, taped Oval Office conversations, April–May 1972 112
- 4.15 Hanoi on striking a compromise settlement, May–October 1972 114
- 4.16 Nixon on the Saigon government's survival, October–November
1972 116
- 4.17 Nguyen Van Thieu, address to the National Assembly, 12 December 1972 118
- 4.18 Peace agreement signed in Paris, 27 January 1973 120

---

5. The View from the Ground, 1965–1971 123

To the Rescue, 1965–1967 126

- 5.1 Jack S. Swender, letter to “Uncle and Aunt,” 20 September 1965 126
- 5.2 George R. Bassett, letter to “Mom, Dad, and Kids,”
28 March 1966 127
- 5.3 John Dabonka, letter to “Mom and Dad,” 23 December 1966 127
- 5.4 Carl Burns describing the dawning doubts about the war effort, 1966–1967 128
- 5.5 Richard S. Johnson Jr., letters to “Penny,” February–March 1967 129

In the Shadow of the Giant, 1965–1968 130

- 5.6 Two Saigon loyalists between a rock and a hard place, 1965 131
- 5.7 Ha Xuan Dai, diary entries, November 1965 136
- 5.8 Nguyen Van Hoang, interview on going into the army in 1967 137
- 5.9 Huong Van Ba, oral history of fighting, 1965–1968 138
- 5.10 Nguyen Van Be, personal papers, 1966 139
- 5.11 Le Thi Dau, recollections of service in the resistance, late 1950s–late 1960s 142

The War Goes Sour, 1968–1971 143

- 5.12 Soldiers of Charlie Company on the My Lai massacre of 16 March 1968 143
- 5.13 David W. Mulldune, letters home, May–October 1968 146

- 5.14 Clarence Fitch, interview on discontent in the military in 1968 147
- 5.15 Rose Sandeck, reflections on caring for casualties, 1968–1969 149
- 5.16 William Kahane, recalling conditions in support bases, late 1970–early 1971 151

Staggering through an Endless War, 1968–1971 152

- 5.17 Trinh Cong Son, “A Lullaby of the Cannons for the Night” 152
- 5.18 “K-11,” comments on morale building, January 1969 154
- 5.19 Dang Thuy Tram, diary entries, May–July 1969 155
- 5.20 Trinh Duc, recollections of his rural work, 1968–1971 157

---

6. The War Comes Home, 1965–1971 161

Opening Shots, 1965 163

- 6.1 Paul Potter, antiwar speech in Washington, 17 April 1965 163
- 6.2 Hans J. Morgenthau, articles critical of intervention, April and
July 1965 166

Criticism Goes Mainstream, 1966–1968 167

- 6.3 J. William Fulbright on “the arrogance of power,” 1966 168
- 6.4 Martin Luther King Jr., address on conscience and the war,
4 April 1967 169
- 6.5 John C. Stennis, speech on a more forceful war strategy, 30 August 1967 170
- 6.6 Walter Cronkite, editorial comment on the Tet Offensive,
27 February 1968 172
- 6.7 Marvin Dolgov, recollections of the “dump Johnson” movement 172

Rising Contention and Polarization, 1969–1970 174

- 6.8 Weathermen manifesto, 18 June 1969 174
- 6.9 The Nixon administration appeals for public support, November 1969 176
- 6.10 Kent State and public opinion, May 1970 178

The Vietnam Veterans Movement, 1971 181

- 6.11 John Kerry, statement before a Senate committee,
23 April 1971 181
- 6.12 Nixon, address from the White House, 7 April 1971 183

---

7. Outcomes and Verdicts 185

Endgame, 1974–1975 188

7.1 Le Duan, letter to Pham Hung, 10 October 1974 188

7.2 Thieu, resignation speech, 21 April 1975 190

7.3 Gerald Ford, address on the eve of the fall of Saigon,
23 April 1975 190

7.4 Le Duan, victory speech, 15 May 1975 191

South Vietnamese Looking Back on a Lost Cause 192

7.5 Nguyen Cao Ky, interview from 1977 192

7.6 Ly Tong Ba, interview from the late 1980s 194

7.7 Vu Thi Kim Vinh, interview from the late 1980s 195

Living with the Ghosts of a Long War 197

7.8 Micheal Clodfelter, essay from the 1980s 197

7.9 Bao Ninh, novel on the sorrow of war, 1991 199

Political Verdicts 202

7.10 Ronald Reagan, remarks at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial,
11 November 1988 202

7.11 Vo Nguyen Giap and Nguyen Co Thach clash with McNamara, 1995 and 1997 203

Concluding Reflections 206

Sources of Documents 209

Index 217