

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on Contributors	ix
1 Introduction: The Past is Never Dead... Othon Anastasakis, David Madden and Elizabeth Roberts	1
2 Too Much History and Too Many Neighbours: Europe and the Balkans before 1914 Margaret MacMillan	13
3 The Black Hand and the Sarajevo Conspiracy Ivor Roberts	23
4 The Contrasting Legacies of the South Slav Question Ivo Banac	43
5 Was the First World War the Turning Point at Which Bulgarian History Failed to Turn? Richard Crampton	50
6 World War I and the Fall of the Ottomans: Consequences for South East Europe Eugene Rogan	59
7 Unwanted Legacies: Greece and the Great War Basil C. Gounaris	66
8 Epilogue: ... It Is Not Even Past! Othon Anastasakis, David Madden and Elizabeth Roberts	81