

Contents

List of Tables	ix
List of Figures	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Foreword	xv
1 Introduction	1
Beginnings	1
Why research pupils' conceptions and experiences of school geography?	4
The research project	11
Outline of remaining chapters	22
2 School Geography in England	25
Recent developments in English school geography	25
The Geography National Curriculum	28
Key themes in school geography	31
Values and controversial issues in school geography	37
Viewpoints and ideologies and school geography	41
Concluding remarks	43
3 Building on Prior Research	45
Terminology	45
The nature of pupils' subject conceptions	46
What do we know already about pupils' conceptions and experiences of school geography?	48
4 Springfield School: Lisa and Bart	59
School context	59
Lisa's conceptions and experiences of school geography	63
Bart's conceptions and experiences of school geography	70
Comparative review of Lisa and Bart	77

5	Belmont School: Sara and Matt	79
	School context	79
	Sara's conceptions and experiences of school geography	82
	Matt's conceptions and experiences of school geography	89
	Comparative review of Sara and Matt	95
6	Cedar Grove School: Jenie and Ryan	97
	School context	97
	Jenie's conceptions and experiences of school geography	102
	Ryan's conceptions and experiences of school geography	107
	Comparative review of Jenie and Ryan	115
7	Describing and Evaluating School Geography	119
	Pupils from Springfield School	120
	Pupils from Belmont School	124
	Pupils from Cedar Grove School	127
	Summary of key points	130
8	Themes in Pupils' Ideas About School Geography	133
	People and the environment in school geography	134
	Geography and Education for Sustainable Development (ESD)	136
	Geographical knowledge and the future	139
	Space and place in learning geography	141
	Facts and opinions in geography and geography lessons	143
	Interest in and enjoyment of school geography	145
	The relevance of school geography	147
	The uses and importance of school geography	150
	Concluding remarks	152
9	Conclusions	155
	What have we learnt about how pupils describe school geography?	155
	What have we learnt about the judgements pupils make about school geography?	158
	Summary of key findings	162
	What does this all mean? Discussion and implications	170
	Concluding thoughts	177
	References	181
	Index	197