

CONTENTS

The Promises and Perils of the Survey

Introduction 1

JAMES M. LANG

Part One: Pedagogies

1. Mapping the Literature Survey: Locating London in British Literature I 11
KEVIN BOURQUE
2. Creative Imitation: The Survey as an Occasion for Emulating Style 31
SCOTT L. NEWSTOK
3. Bingo Pedagogy: Team-Based Learning and the Literature Survey 49
DESIRÉE HENDERSON
4. Extended Engagement: In Praise of Breadth 68
AARON ROSENFELD

Part Two: Projects

5. Reacting to the Past in the Survey Course: Teaching The Stages of Power: Marlowe and Shakespeare, 1592 Game 87
JOAN VARNUM FERRETTI
6. The Blank Survey Syllabus 102
CHRIS WALSH
7. Errant Pedagogy in the Early Modern Classroom, or Prodigious Misreadings in and of the Renaissance 120
MELISSA J. JONES
8. Digital Tools, New Media Survey, and the Literature Survey 133
JENNIFER PAGE

Part Three: Programs

9. Thematic Organization and the First-Year Literature Survey 153
KRISTIN LUCAS AND SARAH FIONA WINTERS

10. Fear and Learning in the Historical Survey Course	170
GWYNN DUJARDIN
11. The Survey as Pedagogical Training and Academic Job Credential	193
TIM ROSENDALE
12. Re-Visioning the American Literature Survey for Teachers and Other Wide-Awake Humans	214
JOHN A. STAUNTON
Contributor Biographies	229
Index	233