

Table of Contents

Introduction

IRENE EYNAT-CONFINO /9

Constructing the Space

Theatrical Space in Postmodern Times: Concepts and Models of Space Analysis

JAROSLAV MALINA /15

The Early Career of Robert Edmond Jones, Forerunner of Postmodernism in American Stage Design

WILLIAM GREEN /18

Josef Svoboda's Scenography for the National Theatre's 1997
Production of Goethe's "Faust": Postmodern or Merely Contemporary?

JARKA M. BURIAN /28

Searching for Eurydice: Space in Webster's "The Duchess of Malfi"

JEAN M. ELLIS D'ALESSANDRO /36

Deconstructionist Strategies in Contemporary Polish Stage Design and Costume Design

DANUTA KUŹNICKA /47

Re-visioning the Victorian Stage: Postmodern Elements in the Work of Julian Crouch and Phelim McDermott

VALERIE LUCAS /54

Concepts in Spatial Dynamics: Robert Wilson's Dramaturgical
Mechanics and the Visible on Stage

STEPHEN DI BENEDETTO /62

Violent Imaginings: Feminist Performance Spaces in Tomson Highway's
"Dry Lips Oughta Move to Kapuskasing"

KIMBERLEY SOLGA /71

Simulation Onstage: Reflections of the Metaspace De-placed

KATRIINA ILMARANTA /82

Music, Lighting, and Costumes

A Stage Upon a Stage: Postmodern Stage Design and Opera

IRENE EYNAT-CONFINO /93

Re-dressing the Renaissance

EILEEN COTTIS /101

New Technologies of Theatre Lighting Design and Their Influence on Practice

CHRISTINE A. WHITE /106

Sites, Performers, and Spectatorship

42nd Street, a Disco, and a Raincoat Factory: Contexts for a Postmodern
American Theatre

JOHN M. CLUM /117

Theatre Building in Postmodern Times

MICHAEL CRAMER /127

The Cartoucherie: The Théâtre du Soleil Performative Site

BRIAN SINGLETON /138

Here, There and Everywhere: Past, Present and Presence in Postmodern Theatre

ROBERT CHEESMOND /146

Layering the Space—Speaking from Place

KATHLEEN IRWIN /154

“Ohne Warum:” Spectatorship and Postmetaphysical Reconciliation
in Robert Wilson’s Early Theatre

CORDULA QUINT /164

Notes on Contributors /179

Illustrations /183