

CONTENTS

Preface and Acknowledgments	ix
Foreword by Rabbi Zalman Schachter	xiii
Introductory Remarks on Vegetarianism by Dr. Jean Mayer	xix
1. One Man's Meat Is Another Man's Porridge	1
2. Compassion for Animals in the Hebrew Bible	3
3. The Psychological Roots of Human Compassion	9
4. The Craving for Flesh	17
5. Slaughter as a Mode of Worship	21
6. The Dietary Laws as Atonements for Flesh-Eating	28
7. The Celebration of Life	43
8. What Science Can Tell Us	53
9. Steps Toward Vegetarianism in Recent Jewish Life	61
10. Eight Questions and Answers	65
Appendix I. What's Cooking?	73
Appendix II. Protein Complementarity	84
Notes	91
Bibliography	109
General Index	113
Index to Biblical References	117
Nutrition and Cookery Index	119