

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables	vii
-----------------------------------	-----

Acknowledgments	ix
------------------------	----

Part 1 Introduction

1 Democratic Processes, Clientelistic Relationships, and the Material Goods Problem Tina Hilgers	3
--	---

Part 2 Theoretical Perspectives

2 Favors, "Merit Ribbons," and Services: Analyzing the Fragile Resilience of Clientelism Luis Roniger	25
3 What is Politics For? Inequality, Representation, and Needs Satisfaction Under Clientelism and Democracy Jon Shefner	41

Part 3 The Multiple Dynamics of Clientelism in Latin America

4 Democratic Processes, Patronage Politics, and Contentious Collective Action in El Alto, Bolivia Pablo Lapegna and Javier Auyero	63
5 Clientelism, Democracy, and Violence in Rio de Janeiro Robert Gay	81
6 When Clients Become Collective Actors: Participatory Budgeting, Changing Mobilization Patterns, and Varieties of Clientelism in Democratizing Recife (Brazil) Françoise Montambeault	99

- 7 Clientelism and Subnational Politics in Latin America:
Reflections on Oaxaca (Mexico) and Bahia (Brazil) 121
Julián Durazo Herrmann
- 8 "Fragmented Clientelism" in Montevideo: Training
Ground for Community Engagement with
Participatory Decentralization 137
Eduardo Canel

Part 4 Proposals for Future Directions of Study

- 9 Clientelistic Democracy or Democratic Clientelism:
A Matter of Context 161
Tina Hilgers
- 10 State Power and Clientelism: Eight Propositions for Discussion 187
Jonathan Fox

References 213

List of Contributors 247

Index 251