

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
List of Abbreviations	xi
Introduction	xiii

PART I: THE ROOTS OF MACINTYRE'S THOUGHT

1	Re-conceiving Ethical Inquiry	3
1.1	How Not to Conduct Ethical Inquiry	3
1.2	Lessons from the History of Ethics	23
1.3	'Ought' Language	52
1.4	The Moral Quandaries of the Modern Social Order	57
1.5	Towards the Formulation of a New Moral Theory	68
2	Philosophy and the Exigence of Praxis	87
2.1	The Appeal of Marx: A First Estimation	87
2.2	The Uses and Abuses of Marx's Thought	96
2.3	A Democratic Culture of Critical Inquiry	101
2.4	Towards a Post-Marxist Ideology of Liberation	109
3	The Rational Resources of Christianity	123
3.1	First Explorations	123
3.2	Christian Belief and the Challenge of Philosophical Rationality	132
3.3	The Atrophy of Reason in Modern Christianity	140
3.4	Social Change and Christian Unbelief	148
3.5	Ethics and Christian Theism	154
4	The Explanation of Human Action: Psychological, Social and Historical Considerations	165
4.1	Psychoanalysis and Explanation	165
4.2	Action Explanation, Logical and Causal	171
4.3	The Refutation of Behaviourism	194
4.4	Historical Context and the Limitations of Social Scientific Explanation	197

4.5	Social Explanation and Ideology	216
-----	---------------------------------	-----

PART II: THE AFTER VIRTUE PROJECT

5	The After Virtue Synthesis	225
5.1	Evidences of a Present Moral Crisis	226
5.2	The Crisis in its Historical Causes	235
5.3	Resources for the Restoration of Rational Moral Discourse	247
5.4	Reconstituting Virtue-based Morality	267
5.5	The Present Social Imperative	280
6	The Project Developed	289
6.1	After Virtue 's Aftermath	289
6.2	The Evolution of Pre-modern Practical Reason	293
6.3	The Augustinian Contribution and the Thomistic Synthesis	306
6.4	Challenging Modern Morality	313
6.5	Confronting Today's Moral Dissensus	327
7	The Project Applied	341
7.1	Present Humanistic Debate in its Social and Historical Context	341
7.2	Competing Conceptions of Moral Inquiry	345
7.3	The Thomistic Aristotelian Epistemic Ideal: A Reformulation	356
7.4	The Distinctiveness of the Thomistic Moral Standpoint	358
7.5	The Vindication of Thomistic Moral Theory	365
7.6	Revitalizing Contemporary Academic Debate	372
7.7	A Postscript to the Project: Moral Inquiry and Dependency	374

PART III: FUTURE DIRECTIONS

8	Continuities and Discontinuities in the Œuvre	385
8.1	The Normative Question in Ethics	385
8.2	Theism and Religious Belief	388
8.3	Marxism: The Considered Verdict	393
8.4	MacIntyre's Mature Outlook: A Unified Perspective?	397

9	Criticisms, Internal and External	403
9.1	Relativism and the Question of Vindication	403
9.2	Historicism versus Thomistic Aristotelianism?	410
9.3	Anti-pluralistic Authoritarianism?	414
9.4	Romantic Conservative Utopianism?	421
9.5	Reactionary Anti-modernism?	426
9.6	Morality Justified?	430
	Select Bibliography	435
	Index	453