

Contents

171	Introduction
173	10 A Constructivist Critique of Semiotics
191	11 The Dialogical Meaning of Cultural Artifacts
202	12 The Methodo-logic of Content Analysis
217	13 Discourse as Systematically Constrained Conversation

Acknowledgments

vii

Introduction by Fernando Bermejo

1

PART I

Communicating

Introduction	9
1 An Alternative Paradigm	11
2 Epistemological Grounding	37
3 Major Communication Metaphors	48
4 A Recursive Framework for Communication Theories	72
5 Conversation or Intellectual Imperialism	86

PART 2

Otherness

Introduction	99
6 The Otherness that Theory Creates	101
7 A Cybernetics of I–Other Relations	112
8 Pathology, Power, and Emancipation	131
9 Writing Ecologically	156

PART 3 Meaning

Introduction	171
10 A Constructivist Critique of Semiotics	173
11 The Dialogical Meaning of Cultural Artifacts	191
12 The Methodo-logic of Content Analysis	205
13 Discourse as Systematically Constrained Conversation	217

PART 4 Information

Introduction	235
14 An Introduction to Information Theory	237
15 Research In-Formation	265
16 Paradox and Information	278
17 Cyberspace and Its Artifacts	299
18 Social Memory	322
References	343
Permissions	358
Index	360