

CONTENTS

About the Author	viii
Foreword	ix
INTRODUCTION	1
About this Book	1
Aims of the Book	2
Early Years Practice in Context	3
PART 1 EARLY INFLUENCES	11
John Locke and the Emergence of Empiricism	12
Jean-Jacques Rousseau and the Concept of 'Child'	15
Johann Pestalozzi and the Importance of Nature	19
Friedrich Froebel and the Importance of Play	22
Rachel and Margaret McMillan and Social Reform	25
Sigmund Freud and the Psychodynamic Tradition	28
Rudolf Steiner and the Changing Needs of Children	34
Maria Montessori: The Environment and Learning	37
PART 2 MODERN INFLUENCES	43
John Dewey and Child-centred Education	44
Burrhus Skinner and the Behaviourists	48
Jean Piaget: An Enduring Legacy	52
Lev Vygotsky: Learning and Social Constructivism	58
Albert Bandura and Social Learning Theory	63
Urie Bronfenbrenner: Learning in the Wider Context	66
Jerome Bruner and Constructivism	70
Howard Gardner and Theories of Multiple Intelligence	76
Reuven Feuerstein and Instrumental Enrichment	80
Nel Noddings and the Ethics of Care	82
Te Whāriki	85
Loris Malaguzzi and Reggio Emilia	88
PART 3 CHALLENGES FOR THEORISTS IN A CHANGING WORLD	93
The Realities of Childhood Today	94
Emotional Intelligence	95
How Children Play	96
Learning and the Brain	99
The Emergence of Digital Learning	101
Index	106