

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Foreword David L. Clough	ix
Introduction Melissa J. Brotton	1
Part I: Christian Virtues and Nonhuman Ethics	23
1 Animal Rights Revisited Celia Deane-Drummond	25
2 Whatsoever You Do to the Least of My Brothers: Why it is Wrong to Harm a Fly Jeffrey A. Lockwood	43
3 Anthropogenic Climate Change and Animal Welfare Bryan Ness	63
4 The Self-Emptying Godhead: Perichoresis, Kenosis, and an Ethic for the Anthropocene Mick Pope	81
Part II: Ecotheology in the South	99
5 Loving the Mountains: Cultivating Compassion for Places Andrew R. H. Thompson	101
6 An Ecotheology of Hunting Perry Hodgkins Jones	117

Part III: Liturgical Practices and Hymnody	129
7 Singing to Subdue or to Sustain?: Looking for an Ethic of Conservation in Christian Liturgical Song and Hymnody David Kendall	131
8 Environmental Advocacy and the Absence of the Church Jerry Cappel	145
Part IV: Catholic Perspectives	159
9 Efficacious Ethics: The Trinity, Environment, and Green Design Robert Robin Gottfried	161
10 Care and Compassion: The Need for an Integral Ecology Cristina Vanin	179
Part V: Jesus and the Animals in the Gospel of Mark	197
11 Liberating Legion: An Ecocritical, Postcolonial reading of Mark 5:1–20 Kendra Haloviak Valentine	199
12 The End of the Road: Jesus, Donkeys, and Galilean Subsistence Farmers Matthew Valdez with Kendra Haloviak Valentine	217
Index	231
About the Contributors	241