

Contents

Editor's Foreword	vii
Editor's Acknowledgements	xiii
Preface	xv
Glossary	xix

Part One: Global Ecological Balance: the Common Goal of Ecology and Ekistics

1	From Crisis to Setting of Goals	3
1.1	Introduction	3
1.2	Setting of Goals	4
1.2.1	The Past	4
1.2.2	The Present Crisis	5
1.3	The Greatest Dangers	8
1.4	The Solution	9
2	The Ecological Types of Space	14
2.1	The Confusion	14
2.2	The Balance	17
2.3	The Four Basic Spatial Areas	17
2.4	The Twelve Basic Zones	18
2.5	The Twelve Land Zones	19
2.6	The Twelve Water Zones	27
2.7	The Twelve Coastal Zones	34
2.8	The Twelve Air Zones	36
3	From Setting of Goals to Actual Implementation	38
3.1	Can We Really Achieve our Goals?	38
3.2	The Twelve Zones at All Levels	41
3.3	Conservation and Development	45
3.4	A First Plan of Action	46

Part Two: Ekistics seen as a Science Related to Ecology

4	Anthropocosmos	49
4.1	The Overall Concept of Anthropocosmos	50