

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Introduction: Toward a Genealogy of Christian Neopythagoreanism	1
PART ONE: The Genesis of Neopythagoreanism: A Synopsis
1. Platonic Transformations of Early Pythagorean Philosophy	23
Mathematics as Philosophy in Philolaus and Archytas	27
Mathematics as Mediation in Plato	30
Mediation and First Philosophy in the Early Academy	35
2. The Neopythagorean Revival: Henology and Mediation	40
The Origins of Henology in Eudorus and Moderatus	41
Henology on the Margins of Middle Platonism	45
Mathematical Theology in Nicomachus of Gerasa	50
3. The Late Antique Preservation of Neopythagoreanism	60
Iamblichus, Proclus, and the Legacy of Nicomachus	62
Augustine and the Number without number	68
Boethius and the Fate of the Quadrivium	80
PART TWO: The Pearl Diver: Thierry of Chartres's Theology of the Quadrivium
4. Thierry's Trinitarian Theology in Context	93
The Status of Mediation in Twelfth-Century Platonism	95
The Problem of Bernard's Gloss	100
Thierry on Quadrivium and Trinity	107

5. The Discovery of the Fold	119
Attempts at a Universal Theory of Science	121
The Achievement of the Modal Theory	126
Thierry as Neopythagorean Theologian	132
6. Thierry's Diminished Legacy	140
Confusion about Mediation	145
An Augustinian Censor	149
A Late-Medieval Refutation: Word or Number?	156
PART THREE: Bright Nearness: Nicholas of Cusa's Mathematical Theology
7. The Accidental Triumph of De docta ignorantia	169
A Patchwork of Conflicting Sources	175
Experiments in Chartrian Theology	180
The Christological Double Synthesis	190
8. Chartrian Theology on Probation in the 1440s	199
An Agenda for the 1440s in Two Sermons	202
The Neopythagorean Counterexperiment	206
Two Paradigms of Mediation	217
9. The Advent of Theologia geometrica in the 1450s	222
The Restoration of Thierry's Modal Theory	228
A New Foundation for Mathematical Theology	236
The Word as Number and Angle	243
10. Completing the Circle in the 1460s	253
New Impulses in the Late Works	255
Incarnation and Neopythagoreanism	261
Figurae mundi	267
Epilogue	277
Notes	281
Bibliography	407
Index	467