
CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: Ethical Eating and (Post)socialist Alternatives Jakob A. Klein, Yuson Jung, and Melissa L. Caldwell	1
1. Homogenizing Europe: Raw Milk, Risk Politics, and Moral Economies in Europeanizing Lithuania Diana Mincyte	25
2. The Moral Significance of Food in Reform-Era Rural China Ellen Oxfeld	44
3. Placing Alternative Food Networks: Farmers' Markets in Post-Soviet Vilnius, Lithuania Renata Blumberg	69
4. Ambivalent Consumers and the Limits of Certification: Organic Foods in Postsocialist Bulgaria Yuson Jung	93
5. Connecting with the Countryside? "Alternative" Food Movements with Chinese Characteristics Jakob A. Klein	116
6. Vegetarian Ethics and Politics in Late-Socialist Vietnam Nir Avieli	144
7. Agroecology and the Cuban Nation Marisa Wilson	167

8. Gardening for the State: Cultivating Bionational Citizens in Postsocialist Russia

Melissa L. Caldwell

188

Afterword: Ethical Food Systems: Between Suspicion and Hope

Harry G. West

211

Contributors

217

Index

221