

RURALIA 7

Contents – Inhalt – Sommaire

Alan Aberg Johnny De Meulemeester (2. 10. 1946 – 17. 1. 2009)	1-2
André Matthys In Memoriam Johnny De Meulemeester	3-4
Bibliography of Johnny De Meulemeester Compiled by Reem Alshqour	5-15
Alan Aberg Foreword – Avant propos – Vorwort	17-19
Eva Svensson – Mark Gardiner Introduction: marginality in the preindustrial European countryside	21-25
Piers Dixon Hunting, summer grazing and settlement: competing land use in the uplands of Scotland	27-46
Peter Herring Early medieval transhumance in Cornwall, Great Britain	47-56
Stephen Moorhouse The medieval landscape of the Yorkshire Dales, North Yorkshire: space, processes and procedures	57-75
Blaise Vyner The North York Moors: marginal settlement or marginal evidence?	77-89
Niall Brady Coastal and estuarine approaches to landscape studies in medieval Ireland	91-98
Ingvild Oye On the margins of the medieval farm – Norwegian cases	99-107
Ingunn Holm A landscape on the margins – long-time use and ethnic relations in the border lands of eastern Norway	109-115
Hanna Karlsson Long-lasting effects of Viking Age settlements on vegetation in the forest limit ecotone in the Scandinavian mountains	117-123
Kristina Lindholm Travellers' village at Snarsmon	125-131
Eva Svensson Marginality in our hearts. Consuming the exotics of poverty and hard work.	133-142
Gudrun Gormsen Settlement and farming on marginal moorlands of western Jutland, Denmark	143-147
Bert J. Groenewoudt An exhausted landscape. Medieval use of moors, mires and commons in the Eastern Netherlands.	149-180
Jan van Doesburg Fighting against wind and sand. Settlement development in the coastal dunes and the coversand region of the central Netherlands in the Middle Ages.	181-204

Philippe Mignot

L'Ardenne à la fin du Haut Moyen Age ou comment un territoire en marge se retrouve au centre 205–217

Vincent Buccio

L'habitat en Oisans et Vercors (Dauphiné, France) au Moyen Age: la montagne est-elle une marge? 219–225

Daniel Mouton

Fortifications et limites de territoires, un exemple Provençal 227–233

Christine Rendu et al.

Margins and centres in the shaping of the Pyrenean slopes. Medieval dynamics within the long-term perspective. 235–251

Jorge A. Eiroa Rodríguez

Peuplement rural dans un territoire marginal de la frontière entre le royaume chrétien de Murcie et le royaume nasride de Grenade (Espagne) 253–261

Armin Torggler

Wüstgefallene Orte in Südtirol (Italien) 263–271

Michael Schmaedecke

Die mittelalterliche Besiedlung marginaler Regionen auf dem Gebiet der heutigen Schweiz und ihre Erforschung 273–289

Reto Marti

Between ager and silva. Phases of the colonisation and the use of land in northern Switzerland from the second/third to the eighth/ninth century 291–307

Daniel Gutscher (in collaboration with Jakob Obrecht)

Traces of medieval herdsmen. Preliminary results of high Alpine surveying in the Oberhasli region, Canton Berne (Switzerland). 309–313

Rainer Schreg

Development and abandonment of a cultural landscape – Archaeology and environmental history of medieval settlements in the northern Black Forest 315–333

Manfred Rösch

Botanical evidence for prehistoric and medieval land use in the Black Forest. 335–343

Sonja König

Der Solling als „marginaler Raum“? Verteilung und Struktur ländlicher Siedlungen in der Mittelgebirgsschwelle am Beispiel des Sollings in Südniedersachsen 345–357

Claudia Theune

Water and sand – medieval settlement development between the Elbe and the Oder 359–365

Peter Schöneburg

Ein mittelalterliches Dorf in der marginalen Landschaft der Niederlausitz: Klein Görigk (Brandenburg). 367–377

Hauke Kenzler

The medieval settlement of the Ore Mountains. The development of the settlement structure 379–392

Csilla Zatykó – Pál Sümegi

Palaeoenvironment and documentary sources: tracing environmental changes in marginal landscapes in Hungary 393–401

Edit Sárosi

Development of deserted 'Pusztá' lands in the Danube-Tisza interfluvial region 403–413

Tomáš Klír

Besiedlung und landwirtschaftliche Nutzung von Enklaven marginaler Böden im späten Mittelalter und der frühen Neuzeit. Das Beispiel des Gebietes der Flugsande in Mittelböhmen 415–446