

Table of Contents

FOREWORD	V
FOREWORD TO THE SECOND EDITION.	VII
BIBLIOGRAPHY - SUPPLEMENT TO THE SECOND EDITION	IX
TABLE OF CONTENTS	XI
INTRODUCTION. The First Steps of the Analysis	1
1. Translation	1
2. Delimitation of the text.	1
3. Summary.	3
CHAPTER I. "Story" and "Discourse"	5
CHAPTER II. Time	7
1. "Narrative time" and "narration time"	7
2. Order. "Analepsis", "prolepsis"	8
3. "Gaps" ("paralipsis") and "blanks"	8
4. Order and time-sequence in Biblical narratives	9
5. Duration	12
6. Frequency	14
CHAPTER III. Plot	17
1. Definition	17
2. Types of plots.	17
3. Types of unified plots	19
4. Analysis of unified plots or single episodes.	19
A. Formal structure	19
B. The different moments of the plot	20
C. Labov's model (A. Berlin)	30
D. The semiotic model	31
5. Episode and scene	33
6. Conventions and "type-scenes"	36
CHAPTER IV. Narrator and Reader	39
1. The structure of narrative communication	39
A. The structure itself	40
B. "Real" and "implied author"	41
C. Narrator and narratee	42
D. "Real" and "implied reader"	42
2. The narrator	43
A. "Authority": "omniscient" and "limited narrators".	44
B. "Dramatized" and "undramatized narrators"	45
C. The narrator and the narration: level and relationship.	46

TABLE OF CONTENTS

D. "Narrative within a narrative", "embedded narratives".	47
E. "Telling" and "showing"	53
3. The reader	54
A. The three reading positions	54
B. Knowledge and irony	57
C. The reader's interest	61
CHAPTER V. Point of View.	65
1. The theory	65
A. Basic classification	66
B. The three major "focalizations"	66
2. Focalization in the Bible	67
A. General remarks	67
B. Indicators of different focalizations.	67
C. Some examples	69
D. Shifts of "perspectives", especially in theophanies	75
3. More clarifications of the vocabulary	76
A. Free indirect style	76
B. Stream of consciousness	77
C. The classifications of S. Chatman and B. A. Uspenskij	78
4. Note on the "narrative situations" of F. K. Stanzel	79
CHAPTER VI. Characters.	83
1. "Dynamic" and "static" characters.	83
2. "Flat" and "round" characters	84
3. "Traits" and "habits"	85
4. Characters and plot	86
5. Characterization of personages.	87
6. The semiotic model	92
LIST OF WORKS CITED	95
1. Dictionaries	95
2. Studies in literature	95
3. Introductions to the literary study of the Bible.	99
4. Studies in the Bible	99
ABBREVIATIONS.	105
ENGLISH-FRENCH GLOSSARY	107
ENGLISH-GERMAN GLOSSARY	109
ENGLISH-ITALIAN GLOSSARY	111
ENGLISH-SPANISH GLOSSARY	113
INDEX OF BIBLICAL TEXTS	115
INDEX OF AUTHORS.	122
INDEX OF LITERARY WORKS	125
INDEX OF SUBJECTS	127