

CONTENTS

|                                                                           |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Preface . . . . .                                                         | v   |
| Acknowledgments . . . . .                                                 | ix  |
| Synthesis of Speech from Unrestricted Text                                |     |
| Jonathan Allen . . . . .                                                  | 1   |
| " The position of embedding transformations in a grammar"revisited    |     |
| Emmon Bach . . . . .                                                      | 31  |
| Scenes-and-frames semantics                                               |     |
| Charles J. Fillmore . . . . .                                             | 55  |
| Focus and Negation                                                        |     |
| Eva Hajičová . . . . .                                                    | 83  |
| Cognition: the linguistic approach                                        |     |
| David G. Hays . . . . .                                                   | 117 |
| Morphological and syntactic analysis                                      |     |
| Martin Kay . . . . .                                                      | 131 |
| Some observations concerning the differences betweensentence and text |     |
| Ferenc Kiefer . . . . .                                                   | 235 |
| John is Easy to Please                                                    |     |
| Barbara H. Partee . . . . .                                               | 281 |
| On Natural Language Based Computer Systems                                |     |
| S.R. Petrick . . . . .                                                    | 313 |

|                                                                                                                             |     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Natural Language Understanding systems within the A.I.Paradigm: A Survey and Some ComparisonsYorick Wilks . . . . . | 341 |
| Five Lectures on Artificial IntelligenceTerry Winograd . . . . .                                                        | 399 |
| Lunar Rocks in Natural English:Explorations in Natural Language Questions AnsweringW.A. Woods . . . . .             | 521 |
| INDEX of SUBJECTSN. Calzolari, L. Moretti . . . . .                                                                     | 571 |
| INDEX of PROPER NAMESN. Calzolari, L. Moretti . . . . .                                                                 | 583 |