

{ TABLE OF CONTENTS }

Acknowledgments	ix
1. Introduction: The Places in-Between	1
2. Framing the Issues: Normative Discourses, Political Imperatives	9
I. Normative Theories of the Case for and Against Compensation or Mitigation of Transition Costs 9
A. Efficiency Theories 9
B. Utilitarianism 13
C. Social Contract Theories 14
D. Communitarianism 14
E. Corrective Justice 15
F. Libertarianism 16
II. The Role of Compensation and other Mitigation Transition Strategies in Positive Theories of the Political Process 17
A. The Economics of Politics: Public Choice Theory 17
B. The Implications of Public Choice Theory for Transition Policies 18
C. The Limits of Public Choice Theory 19
III. Alternative Explanations of Political Behavior 20
A. Structural Explanations 20
B. Institutional Explanations 20
C. Psychological Explanations 22
D. Ideational Explanations 24
E. The Implications of Alternative Explanations of Political Behavior for Transition Policies in the Political Process 26
IV. Conclusion 29
3. Public Pensions: Reconciling Fiscal Sustainability with Intergenerational Equity	31
I. Introduction 31
II. Public Pension Plans and the Sustainability Problem 32
III. Policy Responses to the Sustainability Problem 33
IV. Options for Dealing with the Losers 37
V. Public Choice and Normative Analysis 39
VI. Conclusion 41
4. Reforming the US Home Mortgage Interest Deduction	43
I. Introduction 43
II. How Does the MID Work? 44

A. The Election to Itemize	44
B. The Mechanics of the MID	45
C. The MID in the Context of Other Tax Treatment of Housing	46
III. History of the Deductibility of Home Mortgage Interest	46
A. Origins of the MID	46
B. The Politics Leading to the Codification of the MID	48
IV. The Policy Case Against the MID	48
A. Justifications for Subsidizing Homeownership	49
i. Positive Externalities from Consuming More or Better Housing	49
ii. Positive Externalities in Choice of Renting versus Owning a Home	49
B. Justifications for Not Subsidizing Homeownership—Negative Externalities	50
C. The MID Is Ineffective in Addressing Externalities	50
D. The MID Is Inefficient and Inequitable	51
i. Efficiency Critiques of the MID	51
ii. Equity Critique of the MID	53
V. Reform Options	53
A. Affected Constituencies	54
B. Current Developments and the Availability of Insurance	55
C. Classes of Strategies for Reforming the MID	56
i. Cold Turkey: Cancel the MID Overnight	56
ii. Replace the MID with a Credit	56
iii. Grandfathering	57
iv. Capping the Deductibility of the MID (and Other Itemized Deductions)	57
v. Phaseouts of the MID Over Time	58
vi. Raising the Standard Deduction	58
VI. Conclusion	59
5. Trade Liberalization: Gradualism, Reciprocity, Reversibility	63
I. Introduction	63
II. Measuring Adjustment Costs	64
III. History of Adjustment Cost Policies	65
IV. Normative Rationales for and Against Intervention	66
A. Economic Efficiency	66
B. Distributive Justice	68
C. Communitarianism	68
V. Political Considerations	69
VI. Policy Instruments	71
A. Gradualism	72
B. Reciprocity	73
C. Reversibility	73
D. Labor Market Adjustment Policies	75
i. Passive Policies: The Safety Net	75
ii. Active Policies: The Trampoline	76
iii. Trade-Specific Adjustment Programs	78
iv. Other Policies	79
VII. Conclusion	80

6. Agricultural Supply Management: Unraveling the Transitional Gains Trap	81
I. Introduction	81
II. Dairy Supply Management in Canada	82
A. The Structure of Canada's Dairy Supply Management Scheme	82
B. The Effects of Canada's Dairy Scheme	84
C. The Politics of Dairy—The Necessity of Compensation	86
i. Public Choice Theory	86
ii. Public Sympathy	87
iii. Political Geography	88
iv. Transitional Gains Trap	88
III. Overcoming Challenges to Reform	88
A. Persuading the Public	89
B. Policy Options for Compensation and Mitigating Opposition to Reform	90
i. Minor Reform	90
ii. Options for Dismantling Supply Management	91
iii. Options for Compensation and Transition Assistance Policies	92
IV. Normative Considerations Regarding Compensation and Transition Programs	93
V. Conclusion	94
 7. Liberalizing Immigration Policy: The Gains and Strains of Accommodating More and Diverse Newcomers	 97
I. Introduction	97
II. Stylized Facts About Immigration Policies in Receiving Countries	98
III. Normative Critiques of Prevailing Immigration Policies	99
A. Economic Perspectives	99
i. Labor Market Effects in Host Countries	100
ii. Fiscal Effects in Host Countries	101
iii. Implications for Existing Immigration Policies	102
B. Non-economic Perspectives	104
i. Communitarianism	104
ii. Liberalism	106
iii. Implications for Existing Immigration Policies	107
IV. Rethinking Immigration Policies	107
A. Independent Applicants	108
B. Family Preference Immigration	111
C. Refugees and Asylum Seekers	111
D. Illegal Immigrants and Temporary Workers	112
V. Conclusion	114
 8. Climate Change Policy: Managing More Heat in the World's Kitchens	 119
I. Introduction	119
II. Policy Instruments	120
III. Ethical Considerations	122
A. Liability for Past Emissions	122
B. Justifying Different Emissions Levels	124

IV. Political Factors	125
A. Structural	125
B. Institutional	126
C. Ideational	128
D. Psychological	129
V. Transition Strategies	131
A. Taxes and Permits	131
B. Carbon Tariffs and Equity	132
C. Revenue Neutral Carbon Pricing	132
D. Grandfathering and Exemptions	133
E. Price Ceilings, Floors, and Collars	134
F. Information and Exhortation	134
G. Framing	135
VI. Conclusion	135
9. Institutional Reform and Development: The Perils of Utopianism	139
I. Introduction	139
II. Path Dependence Theory	140
III. Rule of Law Reform and Development	141
IV. Democratic Reform and Development	143
V. Property Rights and Development	145
VI. Conclusion	149
10. Conclusion: Taking Transition Costs Seriously	151
I. Introduction	151
II. The Virtues of Incrementalism and Compromise	153
III. Lessons from Experience	155
IV. Conclusion	158
Notes	161
Index	207