

Contents

List of figures, tables and boxes	xii
List of abbreviations	xiii
Preface	xvii
Introduction: Analysing Germany and the EU	1
Germany and the EU: the context	1
Framing the subject	5
Interpreting the subject	8
Hegemony and domestic politics	13
Structure of the book	19
1 Germany and European Integration: Before Reluctant Hegemony	21
Introduction	21
Immediate post-war period: pre-sovereignty	22
Semi-sovereignty	25
Political	27
Economic	33
Ideas and identity	35
Towards German unity	39
The fall of the Berlin Wall and unification	39
The path to a unified Germany in the EC	41
United Germany and its European vocation	43
Political	43
Economic	46
Ideas and identity	47
Conclusion	49
2 Sources of Germany's European Power	53
Introduction	53
The EU: a conducive setting for German hegemony?	54
Institutional setting	54
Policy setting	59

Resources for German hegemony	61
Economic resources	61
Defence resources	70
Political resources	71
Ideas and German hegemony	71
Legitimacy and German hegemony	73
Crisis politics: a new context?	75
Conclusion	76
3 German Institutions and EU Policy-Making: Constraints or Enforcers?	78
Introduction	78
The federal government	81
The Federal Chancellor's Office (BKAm)	83
The Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy (BMWi)	86
The Foreign Office (AA)	87
The Federal Ministry of Finance (BMF)	88
Other ministries	90
The Permanent Representation in Brussels (StV)	91
Policy coordination	92
The Bundestag	95
Evolution of powers	96
Channels of influence	98
The Länder governments and the Bundesrat	102
Evolution of powers	102
Channels of influence	104
The Federal Constitutional Court (FCC)	105
The Bundesbank	108
Conclusion	109
4 German Political Actors and European Policy: A New Politicisation?	111
Introduction	111
From consensus to politicisation	112
Public opinion	114
The Berlin Republic	115
Political parties	119
Policy evolution and key developments	119

The Berlin Republic	121
The eurozone crisis	123
The migration crisis	125
The 2017 federal election campaign	126
The European dimension of party politics	127
Party impact on the European level	128
Party political foundations	129
Interest groups	130
Overview	130
Peak associations	131
Sectoral associations	133
The European level	136
Channels of influence	136
Three examples of interest group influence	138
Conclusion	140
5 German European Policy in the Twenty-First Century	142
Introduction	142
Integration policy	144
Internal policies	145
Internal market and competition	145
Economic and monetary union	148
The EU's finances	149
Cohesion policy	151
Agricultural policy	153
Environmental policy	155
Area of freedom, security and justice (AFSJ)	157
External policies	160
External trade policy	160
Enlargement and the European neighbourhood	162
Foreign, security and defence policy	163
Conclusion	165
6 Monetary Policy and the Eurozone Crisis: The Emergence of German Hegemony?	167
Introduction	167
Economic and Monetary Union: the German approach	168
Germany and the design of EMU	171
Diagnosing the eurozone crisis	174

Tackling the crisis	175
Understanding German policy on the eurozone crisis	179
Case 1: Germany and the first Greek rescue: reluctant hegemon	180
Case 2: Strengthening fiscal rules: Germany's shaping power	184
Case 3: Banking Union: Germany as would-be veto player	190
Germany and the political economy of the eurozone	192
Conclusion	196
7 From Political Dwarf to Potential Hegemon? German Foreign Policy in Transition	201
Introduction	201
Origins and evolution	203
After unity	205
Germany and the development of CFSP	206
The changing security environment	209
Hegemony?	209
German power resources	209
German economic resources	211
Military resources	212
Contemporary framing ideas	212
Domestic politicisation	216
The domestication of German foreign policy	216
Germany's institutional pluralism	217
Review 2014	224
The Ukraine crisis	227
Conclusion	233
8 Conclusion	238
Introduction	238
Reviewing our findings	239
History	239
Themes	241
Reviewing crisis cases	243
Hegemony and domestic politics	249
Election and aftermath	250

Future prospects	253
International	253
Domestic	258
Conclusion	260
References	263
Index	290