

Contents

Acknowledgements viii

Chapter One: Introduction 1

- 1.1 Theoretical and historical background 3
 - 1.1.1 The sociology of knowledge 3
 - 1.1.2 Ethnolinguistics 8

Chapter Two: The social knowledge system 21

- 2.1 Notes on the concept of culture 21
- 2.2 Structures and functions of the social knowledge system 30
- 2.3 The social learning process 32
- 2.4 'Culture' as knowledge: cultural markers 39
- 2.5 Knowledge, identity and competence 52

Chapter Three: Identity 69

- 3.1 Identity studies: some issues and approaches 69
- 3.2 Social identity: you are what you know 86
- 3.3 Communicative practices, roles and acts 92
- 3.4 Membership strategies, phatic communion and greetings 113
 - 3.4.1 Membership strategies 113
 - 3.4.2 Phatic communion and greetings 124
- 3.5 Rearing practices 133

Chapter Four: The Stranger 161

- 4.1 The Stranger: a social type 161
- 4.2 Anomie, recognition and citizenship 173
- 4.3 Pragmatic failure 189
- 4.4 Compensation strategies 200

Chapter Five: Reconfiguring identities 213

- 5.1 Ethos and the communicative virtues 213
 - 5.1.1 Ethos 213
 - 5.1.2 The communicative virtues 215
- 5.2 Negotiating identities in intercultural service encounters 219

5.2.1 Forging identities 229

5.3 Standardization and scaffolding 234

5.3.1 Standardization 234

5.3.2 Scaffolding 239

Chapter Six: Conclusion 243

References 245

Index 259