

CONTENTS

Preface (Ludmila Urbanová)	3
Conference opening speech (Jan Pavlík)	7

PART ONE – LINGUISTICS

1 Jaroslav Peprník English and the Czechs – Plenary lecture	11
2 Libuše Dušková A side view of syntactic constancy of adverbials between English and Czech	19
3 Ludmila Urbanová Some thoughts on the phatic communion and small talk in fictional dialogues	35
4 Aleš Klégr The Czech conditional by and its correlates in English. A parallel corpus study	43
5 Naděžda Kudrnáčová External temporal specification in English verbs of motion	53
6 Jan Čermák A typological and quantitative perspective on consonant groups in late Old and early Middle English	59
7 Jaroslav Peprník The semantics of food in Czech and English	65
8 Renata Povolná Comment clauses in English face-to-face conversation	71
9 Jan Chovanec The uses of the present tense in headlines	83
10 Renata Pípalová Towards paragraph typology	93
11 Renata Kamenická Between tentativeness and certainty: Research into one aspect of translator behaviour	103
12 Vladislav Smolka Subject clauses and related structures	111

13 Martin Adam
Some problems of FSP of a religious text	117
14 Jana Hejlková
Some sociolinguistic aspects of professional dialogues	125
15 Jan Vomlela
Gender and animal nouns in selected web pages devoted to animal keeping and breeding	137

PART TWO – METHODOLOGY

16 Eva Tandlichová
EFT coursebook in learner-centred learning and teaching	145
17 Zuzana Horaničová
The influence of cognitive psychology in a second language instruction	153
18 Radka Perclová
Primary and lower-secondary learners' beliefs about foreign language learning	157
19 Lucie Betáková
Teaching practice as a motivational factor	165
20 Světlana Hanušová
Students' and graduates' views on ELTE study programmes in the Czech Republic	171
21 Natalie Orlova
Teaching American little-c culture to prospective teachers of English	179
22 Petra Lexová
The difficulties of evaluating English courses for the public	185
23 Anna Hlavňová
He who hesitates will be lost	189