

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	9
1. Introduction	11
2. Theoretical background	14
2.1 Community and society	14
2.2 Archaeological culture as a methodological tool	16
2.3 Graves as archaeological sources	17
2.4 Material culture in archaeology	20
2.5 Borders, regionalisation, territoriality	22
3. Definition of geographic and archaeological area of interest	27
3.1 The cultural landscape of the Late and Final Eneolithic in Moravia	27
3.1.1 Relief and geomorphology	27
3.1.2. Water network	29
3.1.3 Vegetation cover	29
3.2. The Final Eneolithic in Moravia	31
3.2.1 The archaeological cultures of the Late and Final Eneolithic in Moravia	31
3.2.2 Absolute chronology of the Late and Final Eneolithic in Moravia	34
3.2.3 The Corded Ware culture in Moravia – the history of research	44
3.2.4 The Corded Ware culture in Moravia – relative chronology	52
3.2.5 The Corded Ware culture – current understanding of the functioning of society	56
3.3. Input data	57
4. Research questions	61
5. Method	62
5.1 Analysis method	62
5.2. Synthesis method	66
5.2.1 Statistical methods	66
5.2.2 Spatial analysis	66
6. Synthesis of archaeological structures	67
6.1 Burial rite	67
6.1.1 The archaeological population and characterisation of the skeletal remains	67
6.1.2 The body of the deceased	69
6.1.2.1 Inhumation	70
6.1.2.2 Cremation	72
6.1.2.3 Secondary burial activities	74
6.1.3 Barrows	79
6.1.4 Burial location – grave pit	79
6.1.5 Grave goods	85
6.1.5.1 Basic quantification of grave goods and finds	85
6.1.5.2 Regional variability	86
6.1.5.3 Gender and age variability in the usage of grave goods	90
6.1.5.4 The association of grave goods in graves	94
6.1.6 Summary	101
6.2 Grave goods and finds	102
6.2.1 Pottery vessels	102
6.2.1.1 Classification of forms	104
6.2.1.2 Regional aspects of pottery forms	112
6.2.1.3 Decoration of pottery vessels	112
6.2.1.4 Summary	133
6.2.2 Other ceramic artefacts	137
6.2.3 Stone artefacts	137
6.2.3.1 Chipped stone artefacts	137

6.2.3.2 Polished stone artefacts	146
6.2.3.3 Other stone artefacts	162
6.2.3.4 Summary	163
6.2.4 Metal artefacts	163
6.2.5 Artefacts from hard animal tissues	170
6.2.6 Artefacts from plant materials	171
6.2.7 Ecofacts	171
6.2.7.1 Archaeozoological finds	171
6.2.7.2 Archaeobotanical finds	173
6.2.7.3 Unworked stones	173
7. Interpretation and discussion	174
7.1 Intra-community social boundaries	174
7.1.1 Horizontal social structures	174
7.1.2 Vertical social structures	178
7.2 Inter-community, inter-regional and supra-regional social interactions and boundaries	180
7.2.1 Subsystems of material culture	181
7.2.1.1 The subsystem of pottery	181
7.2.1.2 The subsystem of chipped stone artefacts	183
7.2.1.3 The subsystem of polished stone artefacts	185
7.2.1.4 The subsystem of metal artefacts	187
7.2.2 Redistribution spheres	188
7.2.3 Territoriality and tenure	189
7.3 How does the Corded Ware culture reflect past society?	189
8. Conclusion	190
8.1 Regional aspects of the Final Eneolithic societies in Moravia	190
8.2 Future research	191
9. References	194
10. Annexes	212
10.1 List and map of analysed parishes	212
10.2 List of ¹⁴ C dates	219
10.3 List for pottery database	226