

INDEX

Prelude	7
FOCUS ON THE CHILD	11
The old and new instrument • Discipline or free will • Who dares wins • Avoiding the child-star trap • Room for creativity
SELF-PORTRAIT BEFORE THE TAPIOLA CHOIR	31
I'm one of us - my Bothnian legacy • The black sheep • Sporting mad • Music rises to the surface • Waking up late gives you a headache • The University of Life • Only a pedagogue? • Pastures now • A musical family tree
NOT JUST SINGING, BUT PLAYING TOO	49
Relevations in Budapest • Musica, the road to a creative method • From Children's Song to the Symphony • A musicosociological phenomenon • The Tapiola Choir will now play...
THIRTY YEARS OF THE TAPIOLA CHOIR	61
A vision of our own repertoire • The joys of competition • Gradus ad Parnassum • Strange sounds and spheres • A spell from Smaland • Roving Finnish ambassadors • To be or not to be? • The Tapiola Choir on disc.. • .. and on screen • The new triangle
THE TAPIOLA SOUND	85
The Finnish instrument • The sound of the strings • The joy of singing • A sense of closeness • Children, the strings of my instrument • Handing down the knowledge • Tricks of the trade • My Dear Stradivarius
SONGS BUILDING BRIDGES	109
Bridges in song • Over the Baltic, across Scandinavia • Marjatta and Magos a rutafa • Oh Susanna! The thrill of performance • The Land of the Silver Birch • Shalom, chaverim! • Sakura and sweet breezes • Waltzing Mathilda and Tutira mai • Hymn to Freedom
BEHIND THE SCENES	137
Doing what comes naturally • The inventory of voices • And where's the money supposed to come from? -
THE COMPOSERS AND US	147
Growing into a composer • A sympathetic hit • Bengt Johansson and the Bible • Aulis Sallinen and the rudiments of grammar • Einojuhani Rautavaara and the Finnish mystery play • Veljo Tormis and Norman Luboff • The art of arrangement • The nets are still out
DREAMS AND WATER RITES	173
Dreams - a sense of fantasy • Earth birth • Sounds from a shell • A travels the world
THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE	187
In their leader's image • Sometimes a great notion... • The importance of a profile • Quality before quantity • Invisible threads • Hidden depths • The secret	