

CONTENTS

Foreword by Hubert Reeves x

Acknowledgements xii

Introduction I

I Near futures 5

From dream to reality 6

Magnificent desolation II

An ideal observatory? 14

~~Back to the Moon~~ 17

Lunar base 20

Energy from space 25

Industrial opportunities on the Moon 31

Economic activities in space 37

O'Neill's space colonies 40

A stairway to heaven 47

Asteroidal resources 50

Martian chronicles 56

Conquest of the Red Planet 62

Colonisation of Mars 67

Terraforming 75

Creating new worlds 80

The frontiers of the Solar System 86

2	Route to the stars	93
	The interstellar ocean	94
	Steeds for space travel	96
	The Orion project and Dyson rockets	102
	Daedalus: the project	106
	Daedalus: the mission	109
	Antimatter. The most efficient fuel . . .	112
	. . . and the most expensive!	115
	Rocketless rockets	117
	Interstellar sails	120
	Ramjet, the ultimate starship	125
	Relativistic visions	131
	The hazards of relativistic travel	134
	Sleeping astronaut . . . or immortal?	137
	Voyaging worlds	142
	Space ark sociology	146
	Nomads of interstellar space	148
	Galactic civilisation	150
	Colonisation of the Galaxy	152
	Von Neumann machines	155
	The plurality of worlds debate	157
	Where are they?	162
	Cosmic solitude?	165
3	Star makers	171
	The Dyson sphere	172
	Dismantling a planet	176
	Impossible alchemy	179
	Ringworld	181
	Stellification of Jupiter and the Landau affair	183
	Recounting the end of the world	187
	Celestial danger	190
	The sword of Damocles	196

	An unstoppable catastrophe?	202
	Can we predict the end of history?	204
	The end of the Sun	209
	Chronicle of a death foretold	212
	Moving Earth	215
	Chronicle of an extended childhood	218
4	Ultimate futures	223
	The long twilight of the gods	225
	The heat death of the Universe	229
	Decay or evolution?	233
	The Universe of the Big Bang	236
	Entropy and gravity	239
	The dark side of matter	242
	Up to the final collapse	246
	Swan or phoenix?	250
	The slow decay of the open Universe	253
	In the dark mists of time	257
	Protons are not forever	259
	Black holes die too	261
	Unstable future	264
	Impossible eternity?	266
	Conclusion	272
	Bibliography	276
	Index	283