

Contents

Preface to the Legacy Edition ix

Foreword by Tressie McMillan Cottom xiii

Foreword: Educational Entrepreneurship in a Changing America by Mitchell L. Stevens xvii

1. The Myth of Technocracy 1

The Technological Relevance of Education 15

2. Organizational Careers 29

The Importance of Technology in Organizations 30

Skill Demands and Organizational Processes 35

Gatekeepers and Cultural Controls 41

Status Linkages Between Education and Occupation 47

Cultural Credentials and Mobility Barriers 57

Conclusion 63

3. The Political Economy of Culture 65

Productive Labor and Political Labor 66

Sinecures and Positional Property 71

The Cultural Market 77

Conclusion 95

4. The United States in Historical Time 97

The Two Americas: Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries 104

VIII • CONTENTS

5. The Rise of the Credential System 120
 - Multiethnic Conflict in America 126
 - American Educational Institutions: Early Background 137
 - The Rise of Public Education 140
 - Unified Secondary Education 145
 - Colleges and Universities 157
 - The Establishment of the Educational Sequence 169
6. The Politics of Professions 174
 - The Medical Monopoly 183
 - The Legal Guild 196
 - The Failure of the Engineers 211
 - Conclusion: Cultural Communities and Occupational Monopolies 228
7. The Politics of a Sinecure Society 242
 - The Early Twentieth-Century Income Revolution 244
 - The Late Twentieth-Century Credential Crisis 253
 - Varieties of Sinecure Politics 258

References 271

Index 291