

Contents

|                             |      |
|-----------------------------|------|
| Foreword—MICHAEL O. EMERSON | ix   |
| Contributor List            | xiii |
| Acknowledgments             | xv   |

|  |   |
|--|---|
| Introduction—J. RUSSELL HAWKINS & PHILLIP LUKE SINI TI ERE | I |
|--|---|

SECTION ONE: Looking Back – Failures and Successes in Erasing the Color Line

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 1. Neoevangelicalism and the Problem of Race in PostwarAmerica—MILES S. MULLIN, II  | 15  |
| 2. Healing the Mystical Body: Catholic Attempts to Overcomethe Racial Divide in Chicago, 1930–1948—KAREN JOY JOHNSON            | 45  |
| 3. “Glimmers of Hope”: Progressive Evangelicals and Racism,1965–2000—BRANTLEY W. GASAWAY  | 72  |
| 4. “Buttcheek to Buttcheek in the Pew”: InterracialRelationalism in a Mennonite Congregation,1957–2010—TOBIN MILLER SHEARER | 100 |
| 5. Still Divided by Faith? Evangelical Religion and the Problemof Race in America, 1977–2010—RYON J. COBB                       | 128 |

SECTION TWO: *Looking Forward – Possibilities for Overcoming
the Color Line*

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 6. Worshipping to Stay the Same: Avoiding the Local to MaintainSolidarity—MARK T. MULDER  | 143 |
| 7. Beyond Body Counts: Sex, Individualism, and theSegregated Shape of Twentieth-Century Evangelicalism—EDWARD J. BLUM                     | 161 |
| 8. Color-Conscious Structure-Blind Assimilation:How Asian American Christians Can UnintentionallyMaintain the Racial Divide—JERRY Z. PARK | 178 |
| 9. Knotted Together: Identity and Community in a MultiracialChurch—ERICA RYU WONG   | 205 |
| 10. Much Ado About Nothing? Rethinking the Efficacyof Multiracial Churches for Racial Reconciliation—KORIE L. EDWARDS                     | 231 |
| Theological Afterword: The Call to Blackness in AmericanChristianity—DARRYL SCRIVEN   | 255 |
| Index  | 275 |