

CONTENT

Introduction	9
Field work	13
Conventions	15
Structure of the book	15
Chapter I: The afterlife	19
Early textual traces	20
Buddhist hells	21
Returners from death in the Nihon ryōiki	24
The Scripture on Jizō and the Ten Kings	28
Picturing the damned	32
Scenes from the Scripture on Jizō and the Ten Kings	33
The Illustrated stories of Hell and the Stories of Hungry Ghosts	34
Chapter II: The Tateyama Mandala	41
What type of mandala is the Tateyama Mandala?	42
The world of the Tateyama Mandala	45
The story of the hunter	47
The Realms of transmigration	50
Suffering in the hells	53
Chapter III: The Tateyama cult	57
Aspirations for rebirth in Heavens	57
Unblessed women	59
The Cloth Bridge Consecration rite	60
Uba	65
Sustaining strategies	68
Vanishing of the cult	73
Chapter IV: In the name of religious-cultural heritage	75
The case of Tateyama	76
Continuing practices in Ashikuraji	76
Re-enactment of the Cloth Bridge rite	84
The Japanese sense of nature	95
Mediating Shugendō	99
Retreat	103

Chapter V: Religious practices in the consumer society	107
Culinary curiosity and healthy lifestyle	110
Importance of body and senses	115
Benefits – riyaku 利益	119
Mediatization	122
Choose your experience	123
 Conclusions	129
 Appendix 1: Original versions of translations from Japanese	133
Appendix 2: The Cloth Bridge Consecration rite	135
Appendix 3: Retreat	141
 Résumé	149
Bibliography	157