

Contents

Preface and acknowledgements	xi
-------------------------------------	----

PART 1

Setting the context	1
----------------------------	---

1 Why social ontology?	3
------------------------	---

PART 2

A general conception	29
-----------------------------	----

2 Ontology and the study of social reality: emergence, organisation, community, power, social relations, corporations, artefacts and money	31
--	----

PART 3

Topics in scientific ontology	83
--------------------------------------	----

3 The nature of the firm and peculiarities of the corporation	85
---	----

4 The modern corporation: the site of a mechanism (of global social change) that is out of control?	125
---	-----

5 A theory of money	155
---------------------	-----

6 The positioning and credit theories of money compared	166
---	-----

PART 4

The nature and dynamics of processes of emergence, reproduction and transformation 195

7 Emergence, morphogenesis, causal reduction and downward causation 197

PART 5

Consequences for projects of human emancipation 223

8 Possibilities for emancipatory social change 225

Index of names 257

Index of subjects 259