

Contents

List of Contributors	viii
Introduction David M. Crowe	1
1 Late Imperial and Soviet “Show” Trials, 1878–1938 David M. Crowe	31
2 Traitors or War Criminals: Collaboration on Trial in Soviet Courts in the 1940s Alexander V. Prusin	79
3 Nikto ne zabyt : The Politicization of Soviet War Dead Thomas Earl Porter	105
4 The Human Face of Soviet Justice? Aron Trainin and the Origins of the Soviet Doctrine of International Criminal Law Valentyyna Polunina	127
5 “May Justice Be Done!” The Soviet Union and the London Conference (1945) Irina Schulmeister-André and David M. Crowe	145
6 The Soviet Union at the Palace of Justice: Law, Intrigue, and International Rivalry in the Nuremberg Trials Francine Hirsch	171
7 Soviet Journalists at Nuremberg: Establishing the Soviet War Narrative Jeremy Hicks	199
8 From Geneva to Nuremberg to New York: Andrey Vyshinsky, Raphaël Lemkin, and the Struggle to Outlaw Revolutionary Violence, State Terror, and Genocide Douglas Irvin-Erickson	217
Bibliography	233
Index	240