

Contents

Foreword	8
1. The past that is coming. The need for a new paradigm in education (Zbigniew Nowak) ..10
Introduction.....	10
1.1 Homo faber vs homo desidiosus	10
1.2 L'homme machine.....	15
1.3 Fake news	16
Conclusion.....	18
Bibliography.....	18
2. Contemporary educational space and teacher values - theoretical and research implications (Małgorzata Kabat).....20
Introduction.....	20
2.1 Complications regarding space-related terms	21
2.2 Values and their meaning for the teacher.....	23
2.3 Research implications.....	24
Conclusion.....	27
Bibliography.....	28
3. The current basic legal framework of pre-school education in the Czech Republic - amendments and changes (Daniel Hanuš).....30
Introduction.....	30
3.1 Constitutional law framework of pre-primary education in the Czech Republic.....	31
3.2 The legal framework of pre-school education in the Czech Republic.....	32
3.3 Two-year-olds and kindergarten education – the current legal status.....	33
Conclusion.....	35
Bibliography.....	35
4. Interpretation of the new Core Curriculum of preschool education in the light of the European Key Competencies for Lifelong Learning and multiple intelligences theory by Howard Gardner (Agata Jacewicz)	37
Introduction.....	37
4.1 Key Competencies for Lifelong Learning vs the new Core Curriculum of Preschool Education.....	38
4.2 Core Curriculum in the light of the theory of multiple intelligences.....	43
4.3 Core Curriculum and multiple intelligences theory – comparison	44
Conclusion.....	50

Bibliography	50
5. Preparation of future kindergarten teachers for the education of two-year-olds in the Czech Republic and Poland under a bachelor's and follow-up master's degree study programme (Lucie Zormanová)	52
Introduction	52
5.1 Institutional education and early childhood education in developed countries	52
5.2 Legislation governing preschool education of two-year-olds	53
5.3 Pedagogical preparation of future kindergarten teachers	54
5.4 Concretization of objectives, content and pedagogical training of kindergarten teachers in university education	57
5.5 Concretization of objectives, content and pedagogical training of kindergarten teachers in university education in relation to two-year-olds	60
Conclusion	63
Bibliography	64
6. Social Competencies of Children at Preschool Age (Bożena Grzeszkiewicz)	67
Introduction	67
6.1 The abilities of cooperation among children at preschool age	68
6.2 Communication	70
6.3 The abilities to search, receive and give support	72
6.4 Readiness to empathetic reaction to emotional states of others	73
6.5 Constructive conflict solving	74
Conclusion	75
Bibliography	75
7. Child's Imaginations About Kindergarten — a Mosaic-Approach Study of a Five-Year-Old Child (Joanna Nowak)	78
Introduction	78
7.1 Imaginations and imagination - a brief analysis	78
7.2 A five-year-old child in kindergarten	80
7.3 Research methodology	81
7.4 Children's imaginations about kindergarten - data interpretation	82
Conclusion	86
Bibliography:	87
8. Awareness of teacher education in the Modern World and the Use of Professional Knowledge in Israeli Schools (Elanit Ayzik)	89

Introduction	89
8.1 Teachers' awareness of professional development	89
8.2 Professional training and development of teachers in Israel	90
8.3 Improvement of teachers' professional development – challenges	91
Conclusion	93
Bibliography	94
9. Teachers' reflection in the context of questions and statements expressed by students of early-primary school – selected issues (Beata Oelszlaeger-Kosturek)	96
Introduction	96
9.1 Interrogative and affirmative utterances expressed by students of early-primary school - essence, types, characteristics	96
9.2 Reflection and self-reflection of early-primary education teachers with regard to the content of students' questions and statements	98
9.3 Ways of interpreting students' utterances by teachers	99
9.4 Forming the educational process by the teacher as a result of students' spontaneous questions and statements – examples from the teaching practice	101
Conclusion	103
Bibliography	104
10. Development of students' multiple competencies as the objective of contemporary education (Agata Popławska)	107
Introduction	107
10.1 Characteristics and challenges of the contemporary world	107
10.2 Competencies as the basis for subjective engagement in the changing world	109
10.3 Characteristics and importance of selected competencies	111
10.4 Integral competency education	115
Conclusion	117
Bibliography	118
11. "The Good Start" or "What activities can teacher use in the first stages of classroom management in the first grade of primary school?" (Alena Doušková & Ružena Čiliaková)	120
Introduction	120
11.1 Emotional education	120
11.2 Study of preventive-intervention programs of class management and discipline in classroom	123