

|||||

Contents

List of Illustrations and Figures	vii
Preface. The Cold War's Documentary Crossroads: Leipzig in the Galaxy of Festivals Dina Iordanova	ix
Acknowledgments	xix
Introduction. A Festival at the Heart of the Cold War	1
Part I. A Cold War Festival (1949–1964)
Chapter 1. The Genesis of the Leipzig Film Festival	17
Chapter 2. Opening to the World	43
Chapter 3. Between Propaganda and Cinéma Vérité	71
Part II. Between Provincialism and International Dialogue (1964–1973)
Chapter 4. When the Tide Turns . . .	101
Chapter 5. Toward Documentaries with a Human Face	130
Chapter 6. Documentaries in the Service of International Solidarity	157
Part III. A Trompe L'Oeil Mise-en-Scène? (1973–1983)
Chapter 7. Wide Angle on Socialist Society	189
Chapter 8. Don't Wait for Better Times	219

Part IV. Toward New Horizons (1984–1990)

Chapter 9. An Opening in the East?	247
Chapter 10. Revolution on the Screen, on the Street	279
Conclusion. Beyond the Cold War: A Memory in the Making	307
Appendices	318
Glossary	327
Bibliography	330
Index	358
Film Index	368