

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| List of Figures and Tables | x |
| Preface: Ghosts, Post-truth Despair, and Brandolini's Law | xi |
| Acknowledgements | xix |
| Note on Text | xxi |
| | |
| 1 An Incoherent Contradiction | 1 |
| A geological divide | 1 |
| Mapping the problematique | 2 |
| Maps, compasses and bricks | 5 |
| Sui generis crisis | 8 |
| The arms race of natural theology | 9 |
| | |
| 2 The Deep History of Comparison | 13 |
| A rusty toolbox | 13 |
| Birth certificate(s): Ultimate origins | 17 |
| A preliminary note on imperialism, postmodernism and science | 21 |
| Rationality as cumulative by-product of comparison: From Jean Bodin to Edward Burnett Tylor | 23 |
| Enter comparative mythology: Friedrich Max Müller | 26 |
| Triumph and dissolution of comparison: James George Frazer | 28 |
| Whodunnit? | 31 |
| Shape of things to come | 33 |
| | |
| 3 The Darwinian Road Not Taken | 37 |
| 'The greatest historian of all time' | 37 |
| The threat of a scientific and comparative study of religion | 39 |
| What makes us human | 41 |
| The Origin of Species , 1859: Breaking the chain of being | 42 |
| The Descent of Man , 1871: Degrees, not kinds | 44 |
| The Rubicon: Max Müller versus Darwin | 46 |
| Ladders, progress and pithecophobia | 48 |
| Original sin | 51 |

| | | |
|---|--|-----|
| 4 | Goodbye Science | 55 |
| | The theory of everything | 55 |
| | A scientific theology? William Robertson Smith's 'dual life' | 57 |
| | Smith's heretical accommodationism, 1880s | 59 |
| | The end of the Victorian science of religion | 62 |
| | Birth certificate(s): HoR's proximate origins | 64 |
| | Netherlands, 1860s: Tiele's (tentative) science of religion | 66 |
| | Netherlands, 1870s: Chantepie's theological reaction | 68 |
| | Netherlands, 1930s: van der Leeuw's re-confessionalization | 71 |
| | Germany, 1890s: 'Cultural circles', geography and reactionary politics | 73 |
| | Austria and Switzerland, 1900s–1950s: Schmidt's apologetic history of religion | 75 |
| | Schmidt's legacy: The strategic rescue of Andrew Lang's High Gods as an early home run for post-truth | 79 |
| | Italy, 1910s–1950s: Pettazzoni's revolutionary rebuttal | 82 |
| | Italy, 1920s–1930s: Pettazzoni's two-fold gamble | 84 |
| | 1950: The foundation of the IAHR and the defeat of science | 88 |
| 5 | Eliadology | 93 |
| | Neither with you nor without you: Mircea Eliade | 93 |
| | Eliade, 1920s–1980s: From Romanian post-truth to American New Age | 96 |
| | The sacred from the Stone Age to the present and back again | 100 |
| | Schmidt's 'stupendous learning and industry' | 103 |
| | An epistemic twilight: Pseudoscience and esotericism | 105 |
| | Shamanism, 1200s–1800s: Heretics, noble savages, (super)heroes | 109 |
| | Shamanism, 1937–1946: Eliadean superpowers | 110 |
| | Shamanism, 1951–1970s: The Eliadean synthesis | 112 |
| | Resolving 'The problem of shamanism': An unwarranted answer to a non-existent question | 115 |
| 6 | The Demolition of the Status Quo | 117 |
| | Point of (k)no(w) return: The politics of the Eliadean HoR | 117 |
| | Sexist biases and gender issues: Eliade's tunnel vision | 120 |
| | Dismantling homo religiosus : Rita M. Gross | 122 |
| | Dismantling the Eliadean research programme: Henry Pernet | 124 |
| | Dismantling the primacy of shamanism: Mac Linscott Ricketts | 126 |
| | Dismantling phenomenological morphology: Ioan P. Culianu | 128 |
| | Dismantling classification: Jonathan Z. Smith | 130 |
| | Dismantling right-wing ideology: Bruce Lincoln | 133 |
| | New generations, poststructuralism and Religious Studies | 135 |
| | Be careful what you wish for: Postmodernism | 138 |
| | From Deconstruction to New Realism | 141 |

| | | |
|---|---|-----|
| 7 | The Cognitive (R)evolution: The End? | 145 |
| | Post-truth rules | 145 |
| | What is science, anyway? | 148 |
| | Forgotten forerunners: Baldwin's evolutionary epistemology | 151 |
| | Forgotten forerunners: Harrison's evolutionary psychology | 153 |
| | Forgotten forerunners: Macalister's invention of tradition | 154 |
| | Disappearing without a trace | 155 |
| | The Dark Ages: Psychoanalysis, behaviourism and cultural anthropology | 156 |
| | Modern trail-blazers, 1950s–1990s: The slow Renaissance of science | 160 |
| | Cognition, 2000s: Back to a natural history of religion | 163 |
| | Cognition, 2010s: More than meets the eye | 166 |
| | Learning from your mistakes: The usefulness of scientific 'false views' | 168 |
| | A short-lived success? The inevitable rise of 'false facts' | 170 |
| | Epilogue: The Night of Pseudoscience | 175 |
| | Notes | 179 |
| | Bibliography | 191 |
| | Index | 233 |