

Table of Contents

	Page
Preface	vii
Summary of Contents	xvii
List of Abbreviations	li
Principal Works Cited	lix

CHAPTER 1 — OBLIGATIO

I. The Concept and its Historical Development.....	1
1. Obligare—obligatio—obligation	1
2. Delictual liability: from revenge to compensation....	1
3. The origin of contractual liability	4
4. Dare facere praestare oportere	6
5. Unenforceable obligations (“obligationes naturales”)	7
II. Divisio Obligationum	10
1. The contract—delict dichotomy	10
2. From twofold to fourfold subdivision.....	14
3. Quasi-contractual and quasi-delictual obligations ...	15
4. The reception of Justinian’s scheme	18
(a) General observations.....	18
(b) The distinction between delict and quasi-delict..	19
(c) The distinction between contract and quasi-
contract	20
5. The attitude adopted by the BGB	21
6. “De facto” contracts and implied promises.....	22
III. The Place of Obligations within the System of
Private Law	24
1. Gaius: personae, res, actiones.....	25
2. Justinian’s Institutiones and the relation between actions and obligations	26
3. From Justinian’s scheme to the “ Pandektensystem ”....	29
IV. Plan of Treatment.....	32

CHAPTER 2 — STIPULATIO ALTERI, REPRESENTATION, CESSION

I. Stipulatio Alteri	34
1. Alteri stipulari nemo potest	34
(a) The rule	34
(b) The interest requirement.....	35
(c) Origin of the rule	37

	Page
2. Strategies to evade the restriction	38
3. Changes in post-classical law	39
4. The evolution of the modern contract in favour of a third party.....	41
(a) Alteri stipulari nemo potest: rule and exceptions	41
(b) The abandonment of the rule	42
(c) Privity of contract	45
II. Agency	45
1. Direct representation: introduction.....	45
2. No general concept of agency in Roman law.....	47
3. Acting for (and through) others in Roman law.....	49
(a) Indirect representation and other substitute devices.....	49
(b) The paterfamilias acting through his dependants	51
(c) Procuratio.....	53
4. The erosion of the rule against agency	54
5. The evolution of the modern concept of agency.....	56
III. Cession	58
1. Nomina ossibus inhaerent	58
2. The use of novation and procuratio in rem suam....	60
3. Post-classical developments, Corpus Juris and ius commune	62
4. The turning of the tide.....	64
 CHAPTER 3 — STIPULATIO
1. The classical stipulation	68
2. Evaluation of the oral formality	69
3. Relaxation of the word formalism	72
(a) The words to be used	72
(b) Unitas actus.....	73
(c) Correspondence between question and answer..	73
4. Excursus: utile per inutile non vitiatur	75
(a) Partial invalidity in Roman law	75
(b) Generalization of Ulp. D. 45, 1, 1, 5	76
(c) Severability	77
5. The atrophy of the classical stipulation.....	78
(a) The use of documents (with evidentiary function)	78
(b) Gradual conversion of the stipulation into a written contract	80
6. The importance of form and formality.....	82
(a) Form as the oldest norm.....	82
(b) From "effective" form to "protective" form....	84

	Page
(c) Formal requirements in modern contract law ...	85
(d) Formalism or flexibility?	87
7. The flexibility of the Roman stipulation: range of application.....	89
8. The framing of the stipulation.....	91
(a) Abstract or causal?	91
(b) The exceptio non numeratae pecuniae	93

CHAPTER 4 — STIPULATIO POENAE

1. The functions of penalty clauses	95
(a) Assessment of damages	95
(b) “In terrorem” function	96
(c) Indirect enforcement of unenforceable acts.....	97
2. Non-genuine conventional penalty clauses	98
3. Genuine conventional penalty clauses	100
4. Range of application	103
5. Forfeiture of the penalty.....	104
(a) If no time has been set for performance	104
(b) “Si per debitorem stetit . . .”	105
6. The problem of excessive penalty clauses	106
(a) The dangers of conventional penalties	106
(b) The approach of modern European legal systems	107
(c) Ius commune and South African law	108
7. Semel commissa poena non evanescit	110
(a) The Celsinian interpretation.....	110
(b) Praetorian intervention	112

CHAPTER 5 — SURETYSHIP

I. Introduction	114
1. The contract of suretyship.....	114
2. Real security and personal security.....	115
II. Sponsio, Fidepromissio and Fideiussio	117
1. Sponsio	117
2. The limitations of sponsio.....	118
3. Fidepromissio and the transition to fideiussio.....	120
III. The Accessoriness of Suretyship in Roman Law	121
1. Limited accessoriness of fideiussio	121
(a) “. . .nec plus in accessione [est]”	121
(b) The availability of the debtor’s exceptions	123
(c) Invalidity of the principal obligation.....	124
2. Sponsio and fidepromissio.....	125

	Page
IV. Idem Debitum	125
1. The classical principle of " Konsumptionskonkurrenz " ..	125
2. From " Konsumptionskonkurrenz " to " Solutionskonkurrenz "	126
3. Correality and solidarity	128
V. The Triplet of Privileges available to the Fideiussor	129
1. Beneficium excussionis vel ordinis	129
2. Beneficium divisionis	131
3. Beneficium cedendarum actionum	132
(a) The problem of the surety's right of recourse against the main debtor	132
(b) The construction of the beneficium cedendarum actionum	134
(c) The recourse of the surety against his co-sureties	136
VI. Special Types of Suretyship Transactions	137
1. Promissio indemnitis and fideiussio fideiussoris	137
2. The use of emptio venditio for the purpose of suretyship	138
3. The use of mandatum, especially the mandatum qualificatum	139
VII. The Impact of Fideiussio on Modern Legal Systems	142
1. Roman-Dutch law	142
2. German law and the English common law	144
VIII. Women as Sureties	145
1. The senatus consultum Vellaeianum	145
2. The policy of the senatus consultum	146
3. The interpretation of the senatus consultum by the Roman lawyers	148
(a) Protection of the woman	148
(b) Protection of the creditor	150
(c) Policy conflict	150
4. Justinian's contribution	151
5. The position in modern law	152

CHAPTER 6 — MUTUUM

I. The Roman Contract of Mutuum	153
1. The nature of mutuum	153
2. Mutuum and stipulatio	154

	Page
3. The consensual element of mutuum	156
(a) Consensus and rei interventio	156
(b) Ex meo tuum facere	158
(c) Towards a loan by agreement	160
(d) Contractus mohatrae	161
4. On the "reality" of real contracts	163
II. The History of the Interest Rates and Usury	166
1. Policies of the Roman Republic	166
2. Maximum rates from the end of the Republic until Justinian	168
3. The canonical prohibition on usury in the Middle Ages	170
4. A clash between theory and practice?	172
5. Usura non est lucrum, sed merces	174
6. The flexible rule of the BGB	175
III. Special Types of Loan	177
1. Loans to sons in power	177
(a) The senatus consultum Macedonianum and its policy	177
(b) The application of the senatus consultum by the Roman jurists	179
2. Loans to merchants involved in overseas trade	181
(a) Pecunia traiectica as a form of marine insurance	181
(b) Greek custom and Roman practice	183
3. Loans to professional sportsmen	186
 CHAPTER 7 — COMMODATUM, DEPOSITUM, PIGNUS
I. Commodatum	188
1. Commodatum and mutuum	188
2. History and gratuitous nature of commodatum	189
3. Gratis habitare	191
4. The liability of the borrower	192
(a) The diligentissimus paterfamilias	192
(b) The nature of custodia liability	193
(c) The range of liability; instances of liability for vis maior	195
(d) The principle of utility	198
(e) The actio furti of the borrower	200
5. The actio commodati contraria	200
(a) Commodatum as imperfectly bilateral contract	200
(b) Reimbursement of expenses	201
(c) Recovery of damages	202
6. Loan for use today	203

	Page
II. Depositum	205
1. The nature of depositum; depositum miserabile	205
2. The liability of the depositary	208
(a) Dolus, culpa lata (and exceptions)	208
(b) Diligentia quam in suis	210
(c) The development of diligentia quam in suis	211
3. The gratuitous nature of depositum	213
4. "Deposit" of immovables?	214
5. The depositum irregulare	215
(a) The problem of the deposit of money	215
(b) Depositum and mutuum	216
(c) From condictio to actio depositi	217
6. Conventional sequestration	219
III. Pignus	220
1. The nature of pignus	220
2. The actio pigneraticia	221
(a) The formula in factum concepta	221
(b) The formula in ius concepta	222
3. The consequences of non-redemption of the pledge	223
4. The liability of the pledgee	225
5. The actio pigneraticia contraria	227
 CHAPTER 8 — EMPTIO VENDITIO I
I. The Binding Nature of Consensual Sale	230
1. Consensus	230
2. The question of arrha	230
(a) Arrha confirmatoria	230
(b) Greek arrha	231
(c) Post-classical arrha	232
(d) Argumentum emptionis contractae or arrha poenitentialis?	233
3. The essentialia negotii	234
II. The Possible Objects of a Contract of Sale	234
1. Demarcating the areas of emptio venditio and locatio conductio	234
2. Generic sales	236
(a) The Roman rule and its origin	236
(b) Generic sale and sale of specific goods	238
(c) The double function of the contract of sale	239
3. The sale of non-existing objects	240

	Page
4. The sale of res extra commercium or of a free man..	241
(a) Res publicae , res divini iuris and the liber homo	241
(b) The availability of the actio empti	241
(c) Culpa in contrahendo	244
5. Emptio rei speratae and emptio spei	245
(a) Emptio rei speratae	245
(b) Emptio spei and its viability	246
(c) “. . . quasi alea emitur”	248
III. The Purchase Price	250
1. Did the purchase price have to consist in money? ...	250
(a) The Sabinian view	250
(b) The Proculian view	251
(c) Sale and exchange	251
2. Pretium verum	252
3. Pretium certum	253
(a) Borderline cases	253
(b) Determination of the price at a later stage	254
4. Pretium iustum	255
(a) The Roman attitude	255
(b) Invicem se circumscribere	256
(c) Private autonomy	258
5. Laesio enormis and equality in exchange	259
(a) C. 4, 44, 2	259
(b) Extension of C. 4, 44, 2	262
(c) Consequential problems	263
(d) The problem of establishing the iustum pretium	264
(e) The abolition of laesio enormis	267
(f) Equality in exchange today	268

CHAPTER 9 — EMPTIO VENDITIO II

I. The Passing of Ownership	271
1. The relationship between contract of sale and transfer of ownership	271
2. The payment of the purchase price	272
(a) Inst. II, 1, 41	272
(b) Pre-classical, classical and post-classical law	274
(c) Pactum reservati dominii	276
II. The Duties of the Parties	277
1. The duties of the purchaser	277

	Page
2. The duties of the vendor	278
(a) Uti frui habere possidereque licere	278
(b) Transfer of ownership?	278
(c) Practical implications	279
(d) The liability of the vendor	280
III. The Passing of the Risk	281
1. Periculum est emptoris	281
2. The position in classical law	282
3. The ambit of the rule	283
4. Excursus: the sale of wine	284
5. The concept of periculum	287
6. Afr. D. 19, 2, 33 et al.: evidence against periculum emptoris?	288
7. Evaluation of the Roman risk rule	290
8. Reception and rejection of periculum est emptoris ...	291
 CHAPTER 10 — EMPTIO VENDITIO III
I. Liability for Eviction	293
1. Warranty of peaceable possession	293
2. Liability under the actio auctoritatis	294
3. Liability under a stipulatio duplae	295
4. Liability under the actio empti	296
(a) "Emptorem duplam promitti a venditore oportet"	296
(b) Liability for the "positive interest"	298
5. The position under Justinian	300
6. The determination of quod interest	301
7. Roman-Dutch and modern German law	302
II. Liability for Latent Defects	305
1. Introduction	305
(a) The remedies: Roman tradition and natural law	305
(b) The implied conditions of the Sale of Goods Act	306
(c) Caveat emptor	307
2. Early remedies	308
3. Liability for dolus and dicta in venditione	308
4. Liability arising from specific promissa	310
5. The aedilician remedies	311
(a) The sale of slaves	311
(b) Morbus and vitium	311
(c) Defects of character	314
(d) Dicta promissave	315
(e) "Redhibendi iudicium"	316

	Page
(f) The actio redhibitoria.....	317
(g) The actio quanti minoris; the sale "sub corona".....	318
(h) The sale of iumenta.....	318
6. Extended liability under the actio empti.....	319
(a) Pomp. D. 19, 1, 6, 4 and other texts.....	320
(b) Reception of the aedilitian principles into the ius civile.....	321
(c) The position under Justinian.....	322
7. Actio empti and aedilitian remedies in the ius commune.....	322
(a) "Miretur vero aliquis, cur Aediles introduxerunt actiones.".....	322
(b) Merging the remedies.....	323
(c) The scope of application of the actio redhibitoria.....	325
(d) Excursus: Special rules relating to the sale of cattle.....	326
(e) Modern German law.....	327
(f) The system of remedies in Roman-Dutch law ..	328
(g) Phame v. Paizes.....	329
8. Mortuus redhibetur.....	330
(a) The problem of the impossibility of restoration.....	330
(b) The fiction of "mortuus redhibetur" and problems arising therefrom.....	331
9. Once again: "Si vas" (Pomp. D. 19, 1, 6, 4).....	334
(a) The development of the "Pothier" rule.....	334
(b) The English Sale of Goods Act.....	336

CHAPTER 11 — LOCATIO CONDUCTIO I

I. Locatio Conductio in General.....	338
1. Locare and conducere.....	338
2. Three in one.....	339
3. Historical development.....	340
II. The Social and Economic Framework of Lease.....	342
1. The quest for security of tenure.....	342
2. Living conditions in Rome.....	344
3. Some typical problems.....	347
4. The Roman lawyers and the law of lease.....	348
5. Legal rules and extra-legal restrictions.....	350
III. Locatio Conductio Rei.....	351
1. The nature of lease.....	351
2. The objects of lease.....	351

	Page
3. Merces locationis	353
(a) Merces vera et certa	353
(b) Pecunia numerata?	354
4. Leases for a fixed term	355
(a) Lustrum; ius repellendi and ius migrandi	355
(b) Relocatio tacita	356
5. Leases for an indefinite period	357
6. Leases in perpetuity	358
7. The duties of the locator	360
8. The range of the lessor's liability	360
(a) Prevention of frui licere	360
(b) Choosing unsuitable slaves	361
(c) Defect of title	362
(d) Publicatio	363
(e) Leaky vats and toxic plants	365
(f) From Ulp. D. 19, 2, 19, 1 to § 583 BGB	367
9. The problem of risk	369
(a) Periculum locatoris	369
(b) Remissio mercedis	371
10. The duties of the conductor	374
(a) Payment of rent, cultivation; the standard of care	374
(b) Vicarious liability?	376
11. The position of the lessee	377
(a) His protection against the lessor	377
(b) Alienation of the leased property by the lessor ..	378
(c) Emptio tollit locatum	379
(d) D. 43, 16, 12 in fine	380
(e) Huur gaat voor koop	381
12. Towards security of tenure	382

CHAPTER 12 — LOCATIO CONDUCTIO II

I. Locatio Conductio Operarum	384
1. Essential elements of Roman "labour law"	384
(a) Locare conducere	384
(b) Essentialia negotii; periculum conductoris	384
(c) Imperitia culpa adnumeratur	386
2. The range of application of locatio conductio operarum	387
(a) Status relationships	387
(b) The artes liberales	388
(c) The value of "labour" in Roman society	389
(d) Common law (ius civile) and employment relationships	391
(e) The contribution of Roman law	392

	Page
II. Locatio Conductio Operis	393
1. Essential characteristics and range of application	393
2. Problems of classification	394
3. Range of liability of the conductor	397
(a) Imperitia and custodia	397
(b) Gai. D. 19, 2, 25, 7 and the problem of vicarious liability	399
4. The problem of risk allocation	401
(a) Periculum conductoris	401
(b) Equitable distribution of the risks	402
5. Adprobatio operis	404
6. Lex Rhodia de iactu	406
(a) The reception of the lex Rhodia into Roman law	406
(b) Subsequent history of the lex Rhodia	409

CHAPTER 13 — MANDATUM

1. The essential characteristics of mandatum	413
2. The gratuitousness of mandatum	415
(a) Officium et amicitia	415
(b) Payment of an honorarium	415
(c) C. 4, 35, 1	416
(d) Receipt of a salarium	416
(e) Mandatum nisi gratuitum nullum: the ius commune	418
3. The range of application of mandatum	420
(a) Factual and contractual activities of the mandatarius	420
(b) Illegal and immoral mandates; the mandatum tu tantum gratia	421
(c) Types of mandate according to the interest involved	422
4. Mandatum morte solvitur	424
5. The liability of the mandatarius	426
(a) Dolus or dolus and culpa?	426
(b) Terminological problems	427
(c) Altruistic and not so altruistic mandatarii	427
(d) Mandatum: between suretyship and procuratio	428
(e) Spondet diligentiam et industriam negotio gerendo parem	429
6. The liability of the mandator	430
(a) Utility considerations	430
(b) Casus a nullo praestantur	430
(c) The ius commune	431

CHAPTER 14 — NEGOTIORUM GESTIO

1. Negotiorum gestio and mandatum	433
(a) Similarities	433
(b) Difference	435
2. The value basis of negotiorum gestio	436
3. The history of negotiorum gestio in Roman law	438
4. The range of application of negotiorum gestio	440
5. Requirements of the actio negotiorum gestorum	440
(a) "Taking care" of a "negotium" "for another" ..	441
(b) Animus negotia aliena gerendi?	442
(c) Utilitas gestionis	443
6. The actio negotiorum gestorum contraria	443
(a) Its importance today	444
(b) Remuneration of services rendered?	445
7. The standard of liability of the gestor	445
(a) The position of the gestor	446
(b) Pomp. D. 3, 5, 10 and Ulp. D. 3, 5, 3, 9	447
8. Negotiorum gestio in modern law	447
(a) Evaluation of negotiorum gestio in German law	448
(b) The individualistic approach of the common law	449
(c) Rescue cases

CHAPTER 15 — SOCIETAS

I. Roman Law	451
1. The nature of societas	451
2. Evolution of the contract of societas	451
(a) Erctum non citum	451
(b) Pre-classical consortium and classical societas ...	452
3. Basic features of classical societas	454
4. Termination of the societas	455
(a) Renuntiatio, mors socii, insolvency	455
(b) The bringing of an actio pro socio	457
5. Freedom of contract and its limitation	457
(a) The allocation of shares in profits and losses	459
(b) The societas leonina	460
6. The actio pro socio	461
7. Liability between the partners	461
(a) The problem of contribution	462
(b) Dolus liability	462
(c) Extension: culpa lata, diligentia quam in suis,
culpa	464
(d) Custodia and imperitia	465
8. Creation and partition of joint ownership

	Page
II. Justinian, Ius Commune and Modern Developments	466
1. Liability between socii	466
2. The societas and third parties	467
(a) Socii venaliciarii , actiones adiecticiae qualitatis and societates publicanorum	467
(b) Societas and agency	468
3. The actio pro socio	470
4. The "community of collective hand"	471
5. South African law of partnership	472
(a) Sources	472
(b) General features	474

CHAPTER 16 — DONATIO

1. Introduction	477
(a) Promises of gifts and executed gifts	477
(b) Reasons for policing the transfer of gratuitous benefits	477
(c) Conceptual problems	478
2. The concept of donation in classical Roman law	479
(a) Donatio and the contractual scheme	479
(b) The executed gift	480
(c) The prevailing attitude towards donations	481
3. The lex Cincia de muneribus	482
(a) Purpose and background of the enactment	482
(b) The application of the lex Cincia	483
4. The prohibition of donationes inter virum et uxorem	484
(a) Origin and purpose of the prohibition	484
(b) Purity of marriage	487
(c) The application of the prohibition	488
5. The law of donation under Constantine	490
(a) Promotion of acts of generosity	490
(b) Formalities	492
(c) Donations and dispositions mortis causa	493
6. Justinian and the law of donations	494
(a) Donation as a binding contract	494
(b) Enter the cheerful giver	496
(c) Revocation of donations	497
7. Donation under the ius commune and in modern law	498
(a) The concept of donation; insinuatio actis	498
(b) Restrictive policies in France	500
(c) German law: form and definition of donation	501
(d) Absence of agreed-upon recompense	503
(e) English law: the doctrine of consideration	504

	Page
CHAPTER 17 — PACTA AND INNOMINATE REAL CONTRACTS
I. Pacta in General	508
1. Nuda pactio obligationem non parit	508
2. Pacta ex continenti adiecta	509
II. Pacta Praetoria	511
1. Constitutum debiti	511
(a) The actio de pecunia constituta	511
(b) Constitutum debiti alieni	512
(c) Constitutum debiti proprii	512
2. Receptum arbitri	513
3. Receptum argentarii	514
4. Receptum nautarum cauponum stabulariorum	514
(a) Actio de recepto; custodia liability	514
(b) The reasons for the actio de recepto	515
(c) Actio de recepto and special delictual actions	517
(d) Actio de recepto and actio locati	517
(e) From accidentale to naturale negotii	519
(f) The receptum in modern law	520
(g) Range of application	521
(h) The liability of common carriers	523
(i) Range of liability under the ius commune	524
III. Pacta Legitima: Compromissum as Example	526
1. Classical and post-classical compromissum	526
2. The compromissum of the ius commune	528
3. Arbiter, arbitrator and amicus compositor	528
IV. Combined Transactions: Hire-purchase in Roman Law	530
V. Innominate Real Contracts	532
1. Permutatio and the rise of actiones praescriptis verbis	532
2. Range of transactions	534
3. Aestimatum	535
4. Innominate contracts and the contractual scheme	536
VI. Towards a General Law of Contract Based on Consent	537
1. Contract and pacta in the Corpus Juris Civilis	537
2. Pacta vestita and pacta nuda	538
3. The contribution of (commercial) practice	540
4. The contribution of the canon lawyers	542
5. The position of the natural lawyers; summary	544

CHAPTER 18 — FORMATION OF CONTRACT

I. The Roman Contract of Stipulation under the Ius Commune	546
1. From contract verbis to contract litteris	546
2. Ex nudo pacto oritur actio and the form of stipulation	547
II. The Doctrine of Causa	549
1. Ex nudo pacto oritur actio and the notion of causa ..	549
2. Causa in Roman law	549
3. The scholastic doctrine of causation	551
4. Causa as an extra piece of “garment”	551
5. The decline of causa	553
6. Causa and consideration in English law	554
7. Causa and consideration in South African law	556
(a) The reception of the consideration doctrine	556
(b) Iusta causa and Grotius’ notion of “redelicke oorzaecke”	557
III. Consensus	559
1. Consent as the basis of contract in modern law	559
2. The Roman contribution	561
(a) Conceptual analysis in general	561
(b) Contractus	562
(c) Pacta	562
(d) Conventio	563
(e) Consensus	563
3. Conventio, pactum and contractus under the ius commune	565
4. Domat and Pothier	566
5. Grotius, Pufendorf and Wolff	567
6. Formation of contract in English law	569
(a) England and continental legal science	569
(b) The analysis of contract	571
7. Contract and pollicitatio	572
(a) From promise to contract	572
(b) The smoke ball case	573
(c) “Auslobung” and pollicitatio	573
(d) Pollicitatio and contractual liability	575
IV. Pacta Sunt Servanda	576
1. Pacta sunt servanda and classical contract doctrine ..	576
2. The right of unilateral withdrawal from a contract ..	578
3. Clausula rebus sic stantibus	579
(a) Origin and development of the clausula	579
(b) The clausula from the 17th century to today	581

	Page
CHAPTER 19 — ERROR
1. Error and contractual theory	583
(a) Cotton ex Peerless	583
(b) Discrepancy between intention and declaration..	584
(c) Private autonomy and protection of expectations engendered.....	584
(d) Will theory and declaration theory	585
2. Basic types of error in Roman law.....	587
(a) Verba and voluntas.....	587
(b) Determination of the object of performance	588
(c) Ulp. D. 18, 1, 9 pr. and error in corpore.....	589
(d) Error in pretio	590
(e) Error in negotio.....	591
(f) Error in persona.....	592
3. The problem of error in substantia	592
(a) Ulp. D. 18, 1, 9, 2	592
(b) Error relating to quality	593
(c) Drawing the line: vinegar sold as wine	594
(d) Further borderline cases.....	595
4. Common mistake.....	596
5. Error in motive and error in nomine.....	597
6. Common error in nomine.....	598
7. Will-orientation, mistake and the formal transactions	598
(a) Testaments.....	598
(b) Stipulations	599
8. Error and the protection of the promisee.....	600
(a) Modern approaches: English law and German law	600
(b) The position in Roman law	602
9. Iuris ignorantia nocet, facti ignorantia non nocet	604
(a) Error iuris nocet: the position in Roman law ...	604
(b) Error vincibilis and invincibilis (ius commune)..	606
(c) Error iuris (ius commune and modern law).....	608
10. The development of the modern error doctrine.....	609
(a) Usus modernus pandectarum	609
(b) Error in persona.....	611
(c) The contribution of the natural lawyers	612
(d) Error in Savigny's System and under the BGB ..	614
(e) Error in substantia.....	616
(f) Developments in French and English law.....	618

CHAPTER 20 — INTERPRETATION OF CONTRACTS

I. French Francs and Belgian Francs (Introduction)	621
II. Roman Law	622

	Page
1. From verba to voluntas	622
(a) Pre-classical Roman law	622
(b) Post-classical jurisprudence.....	624
(c) “Voluntas in primis spectanda est”	625
2. The position in classical Roman law	625
(a) Verba or voluntas?	625
(b) Flexibility	626
(c) The causa Curiana: the case before the court....	628
(d) The causa Curiana: jurists and orators	630
(e) The “individualizing” approach	632
(f) Id quod actum est	633
(g) Excursus: the animus novandi.....	634
III. Post-reception Developments	635
1. The older ius commune	635
2. True intention and justifiable reliance	636
3. Rules of interpretation: in general.....	637
4. Rules of interpretation: the contra proferentem rule .	639
(a) Interpretatio contra eum qui clarius loqui debuisset.....	639
(b) The contra proferentem rule in medieval and in modern law	640
IV. Special Problem Situations	643
1. §§ 116, 117, 118, 122 BGB	643
2. Lack of seriousness.....	644
3. Reservatio mentalis	644
(a) Roman law	644
(b) Pandectists and canon lawyers	644
4. Simulatio.....	646
(a) Roman law	646
(b) Ius commune; simulatio and fraus legis.....	648

CHAPTER 21 — METUS AND DOLUS

I. Metus	651
1. Historical background.....	651
2. Coactus volui, tamen volui.....	652
3. “Quod metus causa gestum erit, ratum non habeo”	653
4. The meaning of metus causa	654
5. The remedies	654
(a) The actio quod metus causa.....	654
(b) In integrum restitutio?	656
(c) Exceptio	657

	Page
6. The position under the ius commune	658
(a) The relief for metus and its limits	658
(b) Effect of metus on the contract.....	660
(c) Specific characteristics of the remedies for metus	661
II. Dolus	662
1. The remedies for dolus and metus compared.....	662
2. The concept of dolus	664
(a) Aliud simulare, aliud agere	664
(b) Lab. D. 4, 3, 1, 2	665
(c) Fidem placiti rumpere	667
(d) Bona fides and dolus	667
(e) Dolus and dolus malus	668
(f) Dolus and sollertia	669
3. Dolus causam dans and dolus incidens	670
(a) The medieval distinction.....	670
(b) Usus modernus and pandectists	671
(c) Modern law.....	672

CHAPTER 22 — INVALIDITY AND REASONS FOR INVALIDITY

I. Invalidity	678
1. Terminological and conceptual problems.....	678
(a) The black cat which was not there	678
(b) "Invalidity" according to the ius civile	679
(c) Ius honorarium	680
(d) Classical and Justinianic law.....	680
(e) Pandectist doctrine	681
2. Convalescence; partial invalidity	682
3. Conversion.....	683
(a) Traductio unius negotii in alterum (ius commune)	683
(b) Conversion in Roman law?	684
(c) Paul. D. 38, 1, 39 pr.	686
II. Initial Impossibility	686
1. Impossibilium nulla obligatio est	686
2. The concept of impossibility	687
3. Initial impossibility of stipulations	689
4. Initial impossibility and contracts of sale	690
5. Impossibilium nulla obligatio est under the (earlier) ius commune	691
6. The approach of the natural lawyers	692

	Page
7. Pandectist doctrine	693
8. Recovery of damages	694
9. §§ 306 sq. BGB: evaluation	695
III. Illegality	697
1. The possible effects of illegality	697
(a) Subdivision of statutes according to their sanctio	697
(b) Leges minus quam perfectae	698
(c) Leges imperfectae	699
(d) Leges perfectae	700
(e) The lex Non dubium and § 134 BGB	701
2. Transactions in fraudem legis	702
(a) In fraudem legis agere	702
(b) Republican jurisprudence	703
(c) Scire leges non est verba earum tenere	704
IV. Immorality	706
1. Freedom of contract and extra-legal standards	706
2. References to the boni mores in classical law	707
3. Conditions contra bonos mores and late classical jurisprudence	709
4. The effects of immorality	710
5. The content of the boni mores	711
6. The boni mores and the ius commune	712
7. Reference to the boni mores in modern law	713
 CHAPTER 23 — CONDICIO AND DIES
I. Introduction	716
1. The dynamic nature of Western contract law	716
2. Conditions in general	717
II. Condicio Suspensiva	718
1. The nature of suspensive conditions	718
2. Impossible, illegal and immoral conditions	719
3. Casus perplexus	721
4. Condiciones casuales and potestativae	722
5. Positive and negative conditions	722
6. Condicio pendet	723
(a) “Non est pro eo, quasi sit”	724
(b) The spes debitum iri	725
7. The effect of satisfaction of the condition	726
(a) Operation ex nunc	726
(b) Retroactive effect	726
(c) Modern interpretation	727

	Page
8. Interpretation of conditions.....	728
(a) General considerations.....	728
(b) Interpretatio in favorem libertatis.....	729
(c) Condition prevented from materializing.....	730
III. Resolutive Conditions.....	731
1. The construction of resolutive conditions.....	731
2. The admissibility of resolutive conditions.....	732
3. The effects of resolutive conditions.....	733
IV. Provisions for Calling Off a Sale.....	735
1. In diem addictio.....	735
(a) Functions.....	735
(b) Construction.....	736
(c) Interpretation.....	736
2. Lex commissoria.....	737
3. Pactum displicentiae.....	739
(a) Function.....	739
(b) Construction.....	740
V. Dies.....	741
1. Dies certus and dies incertus quando.....	741
2. Dies ad quem.....	741
3. Dies a quo.....	742
4. Navis ex Asia.....	742
VI. Usus Hodiernus.....	743
CHAPTER 24 — TERMINATION OF OBLIGATIONS
I. Solutio.....	748
1. Praestatio eius quod debetur.....	748
2. Unum debitum ex pluribus causis.....	750
3. Time and place of performance.....	750
4. Performance rendered by third parties/to third parties.....	752
5. Datio in solutum.....	753
II. Release.....	754
1. Solutio per aes et libram and acceptilatio as actus contrarii.....	754
2. The rise of informal solutio.....	755
3. Formal release by way of solutio per aes et libram and acceptilatio.....	756
4. Excursus: the stipulatio Aquiliana.....	757
5. Informal release.....	757
III. Other Forms of “Solutio Impropria”.....	758

	Page
IV. Compensatio	760
1. Set-off in modern law.....	760
2. The procedural framework for set-off in Roman law	761
(a) Iudicia bonae fidei	761
(b) Actiones stricti iuris	762
(c) Special kinds of set-off: argentarius and bonorum emptor.....	764
3. Towards a generalized form of set-off	765
(a) Assimilation.....	765
(b) Set-off in the Corpus Juris Civilis	767
V. Extinctive Prescription	767
VI. Excursus: The Problem of Specific Performance	770
1. Condemnation or absolution	770
2. Omnis condemnatio pecuniaria	771
3. Condemnatio pecuniaria and specific performance under Justinian.....	772
4. The distinctions of the ius commune.....	773
5. Roman-Dutch law; modern German law.....	774
6. Specific performance in English law	776
(a) The concept of contract	776
(b) The rise of assumpsit	777
(c) Common-law remedy and equitable relief	779
(d) The position today	780
7. Specific performance in South African law	781

CHAPTER 25 — BREACH OF CONTRACT

I. Breach of Contract in General	783
1. Introduction	783
2. Certam rem dare obligations	783
(a) Supervening impossibility.....	783
(b) Perpetuatio obligationis	784
(c) Culpa.....	785
(d) Mora debitoris	787
(e) Deterioration of the object promised	787
3. Other types of obligations stricti iuris.....	787
4. Actions with a formula incerta	788
II. Mora Debitoris	790
1. Consequences of mora debitoris in Roman law.....	790
2. Requirements of mora debitoris in Roman law	791
(a) In general	791
(b) Mora ex persona	791
(c) The role of interpellatio.....	792

	Page
3. Requirements of mora debitoris (ius commune)	793
(a) The role of culpa	793
(b) Impossibility and difficultas praestationis	794
(c) Interpellatio and mora ex persona	795
(d) Interpellatio and litis contestatio	796
(e) Mora ex re	797
4. Consequences of mora debitoris (ius commune)	799
III. Rescission as a Remedy for Breach of Contract	800
1. The "iron" rule of Roman law and the notion of an implied lex commissoria	800
2. The notion of an implied condition (natural law)	803
3. Condition and warranty in English law	803
4. Condition, lex commissoria and rescission in South African law	804
IV. Impossibility of Performance and Breach of Contract	806
1. Breach of contract in Roman law	806
2. Breach of contract under the ius commune	807
3. The notion of impossibility under the ius commune	809
4. Friedrich Mommsen's impossibility doctrine	809
5. Supervening impossibility in modern German law	810
6. Breach of contract in German law	813
7. Breach of contract in English law	814
V. Mora Creditoris	817
1. Mora creditoris, mora debitoris and breach of contract	817
2. Mora creditoris in modern German law	818
3. Requirements of mora creditoris in Roman law	819
4. Consequences of mora creditoris in Roman law	820
(a) Alleviation of liability	820
(b) Obsignatio and depositio	821
(c) Recovery of expenses and damages	821
(d) Purgatio morae	823
VI. Quod Interest, Damages and Breach of Contract	824
1. Restoration, damages and " Differenztheorie "	824
2. Omnis condemnatio pecuniaria	825
3. Id quod interest	826
4. The Lex Sancimus (C. 7, 47, 1)	828
5. Foreseeability and contemplation test	829
(a) Molinaeus, Pothier and the code civil	829
(b) Hadley v. Baxendale	830

	Page
6. Interesse circa rem and extra rem	830
7. "Mare amplissimum, in quo pauci sine periculo navigarunt"	833
CHAPTER 26 — UNJUSTIFIED ENRICHMENT
I. Condictio	834
1. Indebitum solutum	834
2. "Si paret . . . dare oportere"	835
3. Indebitum solutum and unjustified enrichment	837
II. The Conditiones in Roman Law	838
1. The typology of condictiones: classical or post-classical?	838
2. Condictio ex causa furtiva	839
3. Enrichment by transfer	841
(a) Transfer solvendi causa	841
(b) Executed transactions	842
(c) Transfer credendi causa	842
(d) Datio ob rem	842
4. Condictio causa data causa non secuta	843
5. Condictio ob turpem (vel iniustam) causam	844
(a) Turpitude accipientis dumtaxat	844
(b) Turpitude utriusque	846
(c) Turpitude solius dantis	847
6. Condictio indebiti	848
(a) Indebitum solutum	848
(b) Solutio per errorem	849
7. Miscellaneous cases	851
(a) Pomponius' enrichment principle	851
(b) Retinere sine causa	854
(c) Condictio ob causam finitam and condictio liberationis	855
(d) Condictio sine causa	856
III. The Subsequent Fate of the Conditiones	857
1. Condictio causa data causa non secuta	857
(a) Ius poenitentiae	857
(b) Condictio ratione cessationis causae	858
(c) Periculum debitoris and conditional synallagma	859
(d) "Hodie [haec] condictio rara est"	860
2. Condictio ob turpem vel iniustam causam	862
3. In pari turpitudine causa est melior possidentis	863
(a) Extension of the rule in modern German law	863
(b) "Sinister" and "disastrous" results	864
(c) The approach adopted by the South African courts	865

	Page
4. Condictio indebiti	866
(a) Function and range of application	866
(b) The error requirement: sententia Papiniani	868
(c) Error iuris nocet , error facti non nocet	869
(d) Ignorantia vincibilis and invincibilis	869
5. Condictio sine causa	871
(a) Condictio sine causa specialis	871
(b) Condictio sine causa generalis	872
 IV. Enrichment Liability Outside the Conditiones	 873
1. Aequitas naturalis and the lex Si et me et Titium	873
2. The actio negotiorum gestorum (contraria) as enrichment action.....	875
(a) Mala fide administration of another's affairs	875
(b) Afr. D. 3, 5, 48	877
3. The actio de in rem verso	878
(a) The Roman actio de in rem verso	878
(b) Actio utilis de in rem verso	879
(c) C. 4, 26, 7, 3 and third-party enrichment.....	880
(d) Versio in rem and two-party relationships	881
(e) The actio de in rem verso in the natural-law codifications.....	883
4. The general enrichment action that was	885
(a) Grotius and Huber	885
(b) South African law	886
 V. Enrichment Remedies in Modern Law	 887
1. German law	887
(a) The general enrichment action of the BGB	887
(b) The Wilburg/von Caemmerer typology	889
2. English law.....	891
(a) The basic options for the legal system.....	891
(b) Rearing the backward child	892
 VI. The Measure of Enrichment Liability	 895
1. The "weakness" of enrichment claims in German law.....	895
2. Instances of "weak" enrichment liability in Rome ...	896
3. Liability of the defendant under the condictio	897
4. Condictio pretii	898
5. The regime of the ius commune : all or nothing	899
6. The change of opinion in the 19th century	900

CHAPTER 27 — DELICT IN GENERAL

1. Delict and crime	902
2. Delict and contract.....	902
(a) Death of contract, death of delict?.....	902
(b) Exclusivity of alternativity of remedies?	904
3. Delict and tort.....	907
4. The development of the law of torts.....	908
(a) Trespass and the rise of "case".....	908
(b) The distinction between trespass and "case"	909
(c) The rise of the tort of "negligence"	910
(d) The ghosts of the past	911
5. Roman law and English law.....	913
6. The origins of delict in Roman law.....	914
7. Characteristics of the Roman actiones poenales.....	915
(a) Passive intransmissibility.....	915
(b) Noxal liability.....	916
8. Private criminal law and public criminal law	917
9. The nature of the remedies available	918
(a) Actiones poenales and reipersecutoriae.....	918
(b) Actiones mixtae	919
(c) Concurrence of actions	920
10. Plan of treatment	921

CHAPTER 28 — FURTUM

I. The Roman Concept of Furtum.....	922
1. The definition of D. 47, 2, 1, 3.....	922
2. D. 47, 2, 1, 3 and the modern German concept compared.....	923
3. D. 47, 2, 1, 3 and the Roman case law.....	924
(a) Of mule drivers, peacocks, weights and spread out togas.....	924
(b) The nature of Roman definitions.....	925
(c) Furtum in ancient law	927
(d) Developments in Republican and classical Roman law	928
4. Complicity in theft	930
II. The Actions Arising from Theft	932
1. Actio furti nec manifesti.....	932
(a) "Quanti es res fuit, duplum"	932
(b) The right to sue: ex iure dominii and custodia liability	933
(c) The right to sue: emptio venditio and miscellaneous other cases	935

	Page
2. Actio furti manifesti	936
(a) The discrimination of the manifest thief	936
(b) The concept of furtum manifestum.....	938
(c) The quaestio lance et licio.....	939
3. Other remedies available in case of theft	940
4. Concurrence of actions.....	942
III. Furtum in the Ius Commune.....	943
1. The demise of the actio furti	943
2. The history of the modern concept of theft	945
3. The condictio ex causa furtiva	947
IV. South African Developments	948
1. The concept of theft in criminal law	948
2. The condictio ex causa furtiva	951
CHAPTER 29 — LEX AQUILIA I
I. Origin and Content of the Lex Aquilia	953
1. The essential data provided in the Digest.....	953
2. The problem of the second chapter	954
3. Dating the lex Aquilia	955
4. The composition of the lex Aquilia	957
5. The text of the lex Aquilia	959
II. The Assessment of the Sum of Condemnation.....	961
1. Chapter one	961
2. Chapter three.....	962
(a) Chapters one and three compared	962
(b) "Erit" or "fuit" ("fuerit")?.....	963
(c) The meaning of "ea res"	964
(d) The original scope of chapter three.....	965
(e) "Is anything . . . exempt from doubt?"	966
III. The Nature of the Actio Legis Aquiliae.....	969
1. The reipersecutory character of the remedy	969
(a) Chapter one.....	969
(b) Chapter three	972
2. The penal character of the remedy.....	973
IV. The Statutory Definition of the Delict: Harmful Result.....	975
1. Quadrupedes pecudes	976
2. Occidere and mortis causam praebere.....	976
3. The meaning of occidere	978
4. Actio directa and actio in factum	981
5. Urere frangere rumpere—corrumpere	983
6. The limits of the notion of corrumpere	986

	Page
V. Some Additional Reflections	988
1. Causation in the Roman law of delict	988
(a) "Factual" and "legal" causation	988
(b) The Roman approach	991
(c) Concurrent causation	992
2. The actio legis Aquiliae and analogous remedies	993
(a) Actio directa and actiones in factum	993
(b) Actiones utiles	994
(c) Justinian's rationalization	996

CHAPTER 30 — LEX AQUILIA II

I. The Statutory Definition of the Delict: Iniuria	998
1. Damnum iniuria datum	998
(a) The notion of "non iure facere"	998
(b) Self-defence	999
(c) Necessity	1000
(d) Actions of a magistrate	1003
(e) Consent	1003
2. The relationship between iniuria and culpa	1004
(a) The new interpretation: damnum culpa datum ..	1004
(b) "Occidere", "urere frangere rumpere" iniuria ...	1005
(c) From (typical) dolus to fault at large	1005
(d) Wrongfulness and fault	1006
3. Aquilian culpa in classical Roman law	1007
4. "Contributory negligence" in Roman law	1010
(a) The Roman all-or-nothing approach	1010
(b) Of javelin-throwers and itinerant barbers	1011
(c) Balancing of fault, preponderant negligence or assumption of risk?	1012
II. The Protection of a Freeman's Bodily Integrity	1014
1. Damage to property	1014
2. Liberum corpus nullam recipit aestimationem	1015
3. Injury to sons in power	1015
4. The liber homo bona fide serviens	1016
III. The Usus Modernus Legis Aquiliae	1017
1. Introduction	1017
2. The assessment clauses and litiscaescentia	1019
3. The penal nature of the remedy	1019
4. Cumulative liability	1020
5. Passive intransmissibility	1020
(a) Canonist doctrine	1020
(b) Forum civile	1021

	Page
6. Purely patrimonial loss.....	1022
(a) Roman law and Inst. IV, 3, 16 i.f.....	1022
(b) Damnum datum , sed non in corpus.....	1023
7. The protection of a freeman's life and bodily integrity.....	1024
8. Compensation for pain, suffering and disfigurement.....	1026
9. Culpa	1027
(a) In general.....	1027
(b) Culpa in omittendo	1029
(c) Concurrence of fault.....	1030
IV. Towards the Modern, Generalized Law of Delict ...	1031
1. Legal theory and mores hodiernae	1031
2. The "natural" law of delict.....	1032
3. Fault as the basis of delictual liability.....	1033
(a) Thomasius.....	1033
(b) Grotius, Pufendorf and others.....	1033
(c) Nineteenth-century legal science.....	1034
4. Purely patrimonial loss.....	1035
(a) The natural lawyers.....	1035
(b) Germany (19th century).....	1036
(c) England.....	1038
(d) Germany (20th century).....	1040
(e) Austria and South Africa.....	1042
5. Liability for omissions.....	1043
(a) The priest, the levite and the Good Samaritan ..	1043
(b) Modern approach.....	1045
(c) " Verkehrssicherungspflichten ".....	1046
6. Contributory negligence.....	1047
(a) Developments in continental Europe.....	1047
(b) South African law.....	1048

CHAPTER 31 — ACTIO INIURIARUM

I. The Early History of Iniuria	1050
1. Iniuria in the XII Tables.....	1050
2. The rise of the actio iniuriarum	1052
II. Classical Foundations of the Actio Iniuriarum	1053
1. The different forms of iniuria.....	1053
(a) Convicium	1053
(b) De adtemptata pudicitia	1054
(c) Ne quid infamandi causa fiat	1056
(d) Servum alienum verberare	1058
(e) Residual cases.....	1058

	Page
2. The essential elements of iniuria	1059
(a) Contumelia; contra bonos mores	1059
(b) The problem of the animus iniuriandi	1059
(c) Characteristics of the actio iniuriarum	1061
III. The Usus Modernus of the Actio Iniuriarum	1062
1. "Mine honour is my life . . ."	1062
2. The definition of iniuria	1064
3. Of hunchbacks, cuckolds, clergymen and flouncy skirts	1065
4. Animus iniuriandi	1067
(a) Presumption of animus iniuriandi	1067
(b) Rebuttal of the presumption	1068
5. Remedies	1070
(a) Actio iniuriarum aestimatoria	1070
(b) Criminal proceedings	1071
(c) Amende honorable	1072
(d) The relation between amende honorable and amende profitable	1073
IV. Defamation in English Law	1074
1. Technicalities beyond belief	1074
2. Libel and slander	1074
3. Common elements	1076
4. "Animus iniuriandi" and Artemus Jones	1077
V. South African Usus Modernus of the Actio Iniuriarum	1078
1. The battle about animus iniuriandi	1078
2. Compromise solutions	1080
3. A hybrid law of defamation	1080
4. The concept of iniuria	1081
5. Corpus, dignitas and fama	1083
VI. The Fate of the Actio Iniuriarum in Germany	1085
1. Usus modernus and natural law	1085
2. De iniquitate et iniustitia actionum iniuriarum	1087
3. The shift from private law to criminal law	1088
4. Criticism of the actio ad palinodiam	1090
5. The decline of the actio iniuriarum aestimatoria	1090
6. The renaissance of the actio iniuriarum	1092

CHAPTER 32 — STRICT LIABILITY

I. Liability for Damage done by Animals	1095
1. A special compartment	1095

	Page
2. The actio de pauperie in Roman law	1096
(a) The meaning of pauperies	1096
(b) The principle of noxality	1099
(c) Range of application	1101
(d) The “ contra naturam ” test	1102
3. The edictum de feris in Roman law	1104
(a) Wild animals in Rome	1104
(b) The intervention of the praetor	1106
4. The actio de pastu in Roman law	1107
5. The actio de pastu in South African law	1108
6. The edictum de feris in South African law	1109
7. The actio de pauperie in South African law	1110
(a) The nature of the remedy	1110
(b) Range of animals	1113
(c) Contra ius naturale	1113
(d) Contra naturam sui generis	1114
(e) The “reasonable cow” test	1115
8. Liability for damage done by animals in modern German law	1116
II. Vicarious Liability	1118
1. The principle of noxality	1118
(a) Roman law	1118
(b) “[N]oxalium actionum nullus est usus”	1118
2. Liability for others in Roman law (apart from noxal liability)	1120
(a) Within a contractual context	1120
(b) Custodia	1121
(c) Delictual and quasi-delictual remedies	1121
3. Vicarious liability in South African law	1123
4. The position in modern French and German law	1124
III. Quasi-delictual Liability	1126
1. The fate of the Roman quasi-delicts	1126
2. Delictual and quasi-delictual liability	1128
IV. New Instances of No-fault Liability	1130
1. Legislation in the 19th century	1130
2. Strict liability in disguise	1132
3. 20th-century ad hoc legislation	1133
V. Strict Liability in English Law	1135
1. Vicarious liability	1135
2. Liability for damage done by animals	1136
3. Rylands v. Fletcher	1138
4. The quest for strict liability in modern law	1140
VI. Origin and Application of Art. 1384 Code Civil	1141

	Page
Index of Main Sources
1. Roman Legal Sources	1143
(a) Justinianic	1143
(b) Non-Justinianic	1179
2. Ancient Non-Legal Sources	1184
3. Corpus Juris Canonici	1187
4. Continental Codifications	1187
(a) Constitutio Criminalis Carolina	1187
(b) Preussisches Allgemeines Landrecht	1188
(c) Code civil	1189
(d) Allgemeines Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch	1190
(e) Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch	1191
5. Table of Cases	1196
(a) United Kingdom, United States and Common- wealth	1196
(b) South Africa	1199
(c) Germany	1205
Subject Index	1207