

Contents

Acknowledgements	page vi
Map: place of origin of the sixty-five people involved in witch-trials in Rothenburg ob der Tauber, 1549–1709	vii
Introduction	1
1 'An honourable man should not talk about that which he cannot prove': slander and speech about witchcraft	14
2 The devil's power to delude: elite beliefs about witchcraft and magic	48
3 'One cannot ... hope to obtain the slightest certainty from him': the first child-witch in Rothenburg, 1587	81
4 'When will the burning start here?': the Catholic challenge during the Thirty Years' War	105
5 Seduction, poison and magical theft: gender and contemporary fantasies of witchcraft	135
6 'God will punish both poor and rich': the idioms and risks of defiance in the trial of Margaretha Horn, 1652	180
Conclusion	206
Appendix: trials for witchcraft in Rothenburg ob der Tauber, 1549–1709	212
Bibliography	229
Index	239