

Contents

Illustrations	vii
Contributors	viii
 Introduction	 1
WŁODZIMIERZ BORODZIEJ, STANISLAV HOLUBEC AND JOACHIM VON PUTTKAMER
 1 Groping in the dark: expectations and predictions, 1988–1991	 10
PHILIPP THER
 2 Catalysts of the collapse and of the transition, 1989–1990	 21
MARY ELISE SAROTTE
 3 Poland and the collapse of the patron in 1989–90: as seen from the Polish embassy in Moscow	 32
WŁODZIMIERZ BORODZIEJ
 4 Tea with the primate: at the roots of political conflict in Poland	 50
JOACHIM VON PUTTKAMER
 5 Czechoslovakia’s year of decision: from the socialist revolution of 1989 to the ‘real’ revolution of 1990	 80
JAMES KRAPFL
 6 Talkin’ ’bout a revolution: on the social memory of 1989 in Hungary	 103
ÉVA KOVÁCS

vi Contents

7	A transition to what and whose democracy? 1990 in Bulgaria and Romania	117
	BOGDAN C. IACOB
8	When the Slovenian Spring turned into a hot summer	142
	MARKO ZAJC
9	1990: building democracy in Yugoslavia and the danger of war	164
	MARIE-JANINE CALIC
10	Transforming industry: on the corporate origins of post-socialist nostalgia in Poland	182
	JOANNA WAWRZYNIAK
11	German reunification and the dynamics of migration	202
	TIM SCHANETZKY
12	The party is over: the identities and biographies of Czechoslovak and East German (post) communists in the year 1990	212
	STANISLAV HOLUBEC
13	Poland, the German question, and German unification, 1989–1991	245
	WŁODZIMIERZ BORODZIEJ
14	The German question and its European solution	259
	WILFRIED LOTH
	Index	271