

Contents

List of contributors	vii
-----------------------------	-----

Introduction	1
MARTIN BELOV

PART I

Courts and democracy	19
-----------------------------	----

1 Democracy and courts beyond the ideological banality	21
DANIEL VALCHEV

2 Disempowering courts: the interrelationship between courts and politics in contemporary legal orders or the manifold ways of attacking judicial independence	31
KONRAD LACHMAYER

PART II

Courts and their relationship with legislative and executive power	55
---	----

3 Courts and legislation: do legislators and judges speak the same language?	57
HELEN XANTHAKI

4 Text, values, and interpretation: the role of judges and legislative power in private law	69
ATTILA MENYHÁRD

5 Supreme courts in Sweden: are they “real” judges?	84
MAURO ZAMBONI

- 6 From separation of powers to superiority of rights: the Italian Constitutional Court and end-of-life decisions (the Cappato case) 103
MONICA BONINI

PART III

Courts, constitution-making, and the separation between constituent and constituted powers 123

- 7 The negative legislator: on Kelsen's idea of a constitutional court 125
PAUL YOWELL

- 8 Constitutional courts as ultimate players in multilevel constituent power games: the Bulgarian case 152
MARTIN BELOV

- 9 Courts in the constitution-making process: paradoxes and justifications 173
ANTONIOS KOUROUTAKIS

- 10 The least dangerous branch?: constitutional review of constitutional amendments in Europe 187
MICHAEL HEIN

PART IV

The role of courts in the context of democratic backsliding, illiberal democracies and populist constitutionalism 207

- 11 Constitutional courts in the context of constitutional regression: some comparative remarks 209
ANGELA DI GREGORIO

- 12 The use of the EU infringement procedures to protect de facto the rule of law via the development of the parameter: from obligations under the Treaties to the Charter of Fundamental Rights 228
ENRICO ALBANESI

- Index* 247