

'No one has done more to shed light on how austerity is harming disabled people's lives. This book is so important, it should be read at least by every policymaker in the country' – JESS PHILLIPS, MP

In austerity Britain, disabled people have been recast as worthless scroungers. From social care to the benefits system, politicians and the media alike have made the case that Britain's 12 million disabled people are nothing but a drain on the public purse. In Crippled, journalist and campaigner Frances Ryan exposes the disturbing reality, telling the stories of those most affected by this devastating regime. It is at once both a damning indictment of a safety net so compromised it strangles many of those it catches and a passionate demand for an end to austerity, which hits hardest those most in need.

'Ryan reminds us what real investigative journalism looks like. Keep this book on your shelves, refer to it often, and use the ammunition in its pages to bring back compassion and dignity for all our citizens'

– KEN LOACH, DIRECTOR OF I, DANIEL BLAKE

'I wish I could force everyone in the UK to read this book. It's a ferocious, thoroughly substantiated indictment of this government's maltreatment of its disabled children, women and men'

– ROB DELANEY

'Ryan is an expert in her field. Furthermore, as a disabled person writing about disabled people's rights and issues, her voice is a vital addition to the debate. Essential reading'

– TANNI GREY-THOMPSON, DISABILITY RIGHTS CAMPAIGNER

'A fascinating insight into the harsh realities of living as a disabled person in the twenty-first century. A must-read for anyone with a conscience'

– LEE RIDLEY, LOST VOICE GUY

Politics / History
£12.99/$24.95/$33 CAN versobooks.com

Design by Dan Mogford

ISBN 978-1-78663-788-8

9 781786 637888

5 2 4 9 5

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1 Poverty	11
2 Work	39
3 Independence	73
4 Housing	105
5 Women	137
6 Children	169
Conclusion	191
Notes	201
Help and Resources	221
Index	225