

Contents

Environmental Archaeology: What Is in a Name?	1
Evangelia Pişkin and Marta Bartkowiak
Environmental Archaeology: The End of the Road?	15
Umberto Albarella
Changing Perspectives: Exploring Ways and Means of Collaborating in Environmental Archaeology	19
G. V. Campbell, C. Barnett, W. Carruthers, L. Pearson, R. Pelling, and D. N. Smith
Environmental Archaeology in Southern Scandinavia	35
Kurt J. Gron and Peter Rowley-Conwy
A Man and a Plant: Archaeobotany	75
Maria Lityńska-Zajac
Bridging Archaeology and Genetics	111
Ophélie Lebrasseur, Hannah Ryan, and Cinthia Abbona
Wood Charcoal Analysis in Archaeology	133
Ceren Kabukcu
Palaeoethnobotanical Contributions to Human-Environment Interaction	155
Gary W. Crawford
Ethnoarchaeology as a Means of Improving Integration: An Ethnozooarchaeological Study from Cyprus and Its Contribution to the Integration of Zooarchaeology with Archaeobotany and Other Lines of Archaeological Evidence	181
Angelos Hadjikoumis

Exploring the Wetland: Integrating the Fish and Plant Remains into a Case Study from Tianluoshan, a Middle Neolithic Site in China	199
Ying Zhang
All or Nothing: Spatial Analysis and Interpretation of Archaeological Record Based on the Integration of Artifactual, Ecofactual, and Contextual Data at the Medieval Site of Komana	229
Mustafa Nuri Tatbul
Index	247