Chapter 1 Defining Dyslexia	1
Defining Dyslexia	2
Purpose of Definitions	4
How Should We Define Dyslexia?	5
Definitions	7
Barriers to Implementing Policy	11
Rose Review and Dyslexia	11
Education for Learners with Dyslexia	12
Different Perspectives and Agenda	14
Points for Reflection	15
Chapter 2 Explaining Dyslexia: The Range of Research	17
Causal Modelling Framework	18
Genetic Factors	19
Neurobiological Factors	20
Visual and Temporal Processing	20
Magnocellular Visual System	20
Procedural Timing	22
Hemispheric Symmetry	23
Processing Speed	24
Phonological Processing	25
Phonological Awareness and Multisensory Programmes	25
Morphological Processing	26
Glue Ear	27

	Cognitive Skills	29
	Metacognition	29
	Environmental Factors	29
	Additional Language Learning	30
	Dyslexia in Different Orthographies	31
	Self-disclosure in Adults	33
	Points for Reflection	34
Chapter 3	Assessment: Issues and Considerations	35
	The Context	35
	Assessment Aims	37
	Discrepancy Criteria	37
	Listening Comprehension	38
	Componential Model of Reading	38
	Curriculum Focus	39
	Why an Assessment?	40
	How? The Assessment Process	40
	Effect of an Assessment	42
	Assessment—Points to Consider	42
	Some Other Considerations	42
	Assessment and Inclusion	46
	The Bilingual Learner	46
	Points for Reflection	47
Chapter 4	Identifying Needs	48
	The Context	48
	Information Processing	49
	Factors That Can Prompt Concern	50
	Linking Assessment with Intervention and Support	52
	Key Aspects of an IEP	52
	The Overlap	53
	Assessing Performances	53
	Criteria: Summary	54
	Whose Responsibility?	57
	Early Identification	57
	Models of Identification	59
	Expert/Intervention—Attainment	59
	Barriers to Learning	63
	Whole-School Involvement	64
	Points for Reflection	65
Chapter 5	Assessment: Approaches and Resources	66
	The Use of Tests—Points to Ponder	67
	Assessment and Information Processing	67
	Cognitive Measures	68

Assessment of Processing Skills	69
Comprehensive Test of Phonological Processing (CTOPP-2)	70
Woodcock Reading Mastery Tests	71
Gray Oral Reading Tests (GORT-5)	71
Standardised/Psychometric Criteria	71
Standardisation	72
Psychometric	73
Wechsler Individual Achievement Test (WIAT-II and III)	74
Comment	74
Phonological Representation and Assessment	75
Screening	76
Curriculum Assessment	79
Miscue Analysis	80
Assessment in Context	81
Assessment for Learning	82
Metacognitive Assessment	83
Multiple Intelligences Approaches	85
A Components Approach	86
Observational Assessment	88
Observational Framework	88
Systematic Observation	92
Summary	93
Points for Reflection	94
Chapter 6 Reading—Social, Cultural and Government Perspectives	95
The Social Context for Literacy	95
Literacy and Culture	95
Defining Literacy	96
Critical Literacy	98
Challenging Assumptions	101
Government Initiatives	102
Literacy Standards and International Comparisons	104
PISA Study	106
Literacy Initiatives	106
Points for Reflection	107
Chapter 7 The Acquisition of Literacy	108
What is Reading?	108
Factors to Consider	109
Reading as a Process	110
Reading Skills	111
Reading Practice	112
Developing Reading Skills	112
Key Factors	112
The Development of Reading	114

	Stages of Reading Development	117
	Limitations of the Stage Model of Reading	119
	Reading and Memory	120
	Relationship Between Phonology and Orthography	120
	Dyslexia and Different Orthographies	121
	Points for Reflection	122
Chapter 8	Reading Models and Methods	123
	Bottom-Up and Top-Down Models	123
	Connectionist Models	125
	Balance Model of Reading	126
	Method of Teaching Reading	127
	Developing Reading Skills	131
	Teaching Reading—the Debate	132
	Reading Interventions	135
	Methodological Issues in Reading Intervention Research	137
	Factors to Consider in Developing and Using Reading Approaches	138
	The Literacy Experience	141
	Framework for Teaching	142
	Summary	143
	Points for Reflection	144
Chapter 9	The Acquisition of Literacy: Spelling	145
	Why is Spelling Difficult?	145
	Systems Involved in Spelling	146
	Spelling Skills	148
	Spelling Development	149
	Spelling Policy	150
	Spelling Strategies	150
	Spelling Materials	156
	Points for Reflection	157
Chapter 10	Expressive Writing	158
	The Importance of Writing	158
	Relationship Between Writing and Spelling	159
	Expressive Writing: The Process	160
	Cognitive Skills Associated with Writing	160
	Writing in the Curriculum	161
	Developing Metacognitive Skills through Writing	162
	Metacognitive Strategies for Writing	163
	Strategies for Writing	165
	Motivation and Writing	166
	Planning	167
	Pre-writing Framework	167

Developing Ideas	169
Handwriting	171
Summary	172
Points for Reflection	173
Chapter 11 Teaching Approaches: Points to Consider	174
Overview of Approaches	175
The Context	176
Assessment and the Curriculum	177
The Learner	178
Programmes and Approaches—Some Considerations	179
Overlearning	182
Principles	183
Issues	183
Points for Reflection	186
Chapter 12 Supporting Literacy: Individualised Programmes	188
Criteria for Selection	189
Orton–Gillingham (OG)	192
The Hickey Multisensory Language Course	194
Bangor Dyslexia Teaching System	195
Letterland	197
Reading Recovery	198
Toe by Toe: Multisensory Manual for Teachers and Parents	202
Alternative Approaches	203
Comment—Issues to Consider	209
Points for Reflection	210
Chapter 13 Supporting Literacy: Approaches and Strategies	211
Phonics Instructional Approaches	211
Language Experience	215
Other Support Approaches	216
Phonological Approaches	218
High-Interest Books—History	219
Barrington Stoke (www.barringtonstoke.com)	220
Start to Finish Books	220
Differentiated Texts	221
Visual Factors	221
Motor Aspects	224
Assisted Learning	225
Summary	229
Points for Reflection	230
Chapter 14 Supporting Learning	231
Effective Learning	231
Key Points about Learning	233

	The Learning Process	233
	Realising Potential	236
	Zone of Proximal Development	237
	Developing Learning Skills	237
	Learning Strategies	238
	Multiple Intelligences	241
	Study Skills	244
	Set Goals	246
	Feedback	246
	Memory—Some Strategies	247
	The Role of Self-esteem	249
	Creativity and the 'Gifted' Dyslexic Student	249
	Summary	250
	Points for Reflection	251
Chapter 15	Inclusion: Curriculum Access	252
	The Context	252
	Responding to the Diverse Needs of Students	254
	The Challenges	255
	Meeting Curriculum Objectives	257
	Index for Inclusion	257
	Tensions and Contradictions	259
	Assessment, Need and Accountability	260
	Removing Barriers to Achievement	261
	Interventions and Inclusion	261
	Making the School Inclusive	264
	Equity	265
	Principles of Inclusion	266
	An Inclusive School	268
	Healthy Schools	268
	Supporting Inclusion	269
	Staff Support and Training	270
	Student Advocacy	272
	Dyslexia and Self-advocacy	273
	Staff Support	274
	Key Factors	275
	Points for Reflection	275
Chapter 16	Inclusion in Secondary Education:
	Accessing the Curriculum	276
	Responsibility	277
	Features of Secondary Schools	277
	Differentiation and Curricular Development	280
	Differentiation and Assessment	281
	Subject Areas	281

	Multiple Intelligences in Secondary Schools	294
	Physical Education	295
	Staff Development	296
	Challenges: Key Areas	297
	Points for Reflection	299
Chapter 17	Inclusion: Further and Higher Education and the Workplace	300
	Further and Higher Education	301
	The Workplace	313
	Concluding Comment	315
	Points for Reflection	316
Chapter 18	The Role of Parents	317
	Parental Concerns	318
	Parental Support	320
	Parents' Challenges	322
	Parents as Partners	324
	Points for Reflection	324
Chapter 19	Multilingualism: Challenges and Responses	325
	Background and Context	325
	Cultural Factors	326
	Culture-fair Assessment	330
	Teaching	331
	Key Principles	332
	Metacognitive Awareness/Schema	333
	Concluding Points	334
	Points for Reflection	334
Chapter 20	The Overlap—Dyslexia: Attention, Coordination, Auditory Processing and Numeracy	335
	Introduction	335
	The Overlap Dilemma	336
	Attention Issues	337
	Identifying and Defining Attention Difficulties	340
	Intervention	342
	ADHD and Creativity	345
	Coordination, Movement and Handwriting	346
	Intervention Strategies—15 Tasks to Try	347
	Handwriting	348
	Dysgraphia Strategies	349
	Early Intervention	350
	Auditory Processing	351
	Diagnosis and Overlap	351
	Management of APD	352

	Intervention	352
	Difficulty with Numbers	354
	Reading in Mathematics	356
	Diagnosing Dyscalculia	356
	Intervention	357
	Points for Reflection	359
Chapter 21	The Use of Computers and Technology	360
	Introduction	360
	Approaches Using New Technology	363
	Resources—Computer Programs	364
	British Dyslexia Association New Technologies Committee (BDA NTC)	365
	Comment	366
	Points for Reflection	366
Chapter 22	Positive Dyslexia	367
	The Background	367
	Five Key Factors	368
	How Dyslexia Affects Children's Learning	370
	Metacognition	370
	Encourage Creativity	371
	Provide Feedback to Students About Their Own Personal Progress	371
	Encourage Self-assessment	371
	Develop Student Responsibility	372
	Enhancing Creativity	372
	Concluding Comment	374
