

Contents

List of figures and tables	v
Notes on contributors	vii
Editors' acknowledgements	ix
Series editors' preface	xi
1 Precarity and ageing: new perspectives for social gerontology Amanda Grenier, Chris Phillipson and Richard A. Settersten Jr	1
PART I: Life course perspectives on precarity
2 How life course dynamics matter for precarity in later life Richard A. Settersten Jr	19
3 Precarious life, human development and the life course: critical intersections Stephen Katz	41
PART II: Precarity across situations
4 Rereading frailty through a lens of precarity: an explication of politics and the human condition of vulnerability Amanda Grenier	69
5 Older workers and ontological precarity: between precarious employment, precarious welfare and precarious households David Lain, Laura Airey, Wendy Loretto and Sarah Vickerstaff	91
6 Precarity, migration and ageing Karen Kobayashi and Mushira Mohsin Khan	115
7 A framework to identify precarity in the social sciences: insights from qualitative research Elena Portacolone	147
PART III: Austerity, care and social responses to precarity
8 Reconstructing dependency: precarity, precariousness and care in old age Michael Fine	169
9 From precarious employment to precarious retirement: neoliberal health and long-term care in the United States Larry Polivka and Baozhen Luo	191

10	Austerity and precarity: individual and collective agency in later life Chris Phillipson	215
11	Conclusion: Precarity and ageing in the 21st century Chris Phillipson, Amanda Grenier and Richard A. Settersten Jr	237
	Index	247