

CONTENTS

Preface	V
Introduction	1
On the legal regulations of international personal and economic transactions in general	1
§1. The legal regulation of international personal and economic transactions —as discussed in this book	1
§2. On the substance of and the tie-up between private international law and the law of international economic relations	2
TITLE 1
GENERAL PROBLEMS OF PRIVATE INTERNATIONAL LAW
Chapter I
The concept of private international law	17
§3. Facts of private international law	17
§4. Justification for the consideration of foreign law	19
§5. Indirect and direct regulations	20
§6. The concept and nature of private international law	22
§7. On the name of private international law	23
§8. The relationship of private international law to other parts of the legal system	24
Chapter II
A short history of the science of private international law	27
§9. Historical preconditions for the emergence of private international law facts	27
§10. The periods of the statute theory	29
§11. The theoretical foundation of modern private international law	35
	VII

Chapter III
The sources of private international law	40
§12. The types of sources	40
§13. The sources of Hungarian private international law	43

TITLE 2

THE CONFLICT RULE AND ITS APPLICATION

Chapter IV
The conflict rule	49
§14. Concept and types of the conflict rule; the choice-of-law rule	49
§15. The structure of the choice-of-law rule. Connecting factors	52
§16. Fraud in conflict cases	55

Chapter V
Classification (characterization)	57
§17. The substance of classification problems	57
§18. Attempts at a solution	59

Chapter VI
Renvoi	63
§19. The scope of reference by the choice-of-law rule. The problem of renvoi	63
§20. Theories and practical solutions	65

Chapter VII
The application of foreign law	70
§21. Jurisdiction and the applicable law	70
§22. The significance of reciprocity in the application of foreign law	71
§23. Problems in the application of foreign law	72
§24. Public policy. Imperative rules (lois d'application immédiate) and the public policy clause	76
§25. Subsidiary law	80

TITLE 3

PERSONS

Chapter VIII
Historical antecedents and regulation in general	85
§26. Persons in law—the historical retrospect	85
§27. Persons in modern law	92
§28. The nature, sources and main institutions of regulation	94

Chapter IX	96
Man as a subject at law	96
§29. The personal law	99
§30. Legal capacity	104
§31. Disposing capacity	106
§32. Declaration of death	109
§33. Personal rights
 Chapter X	 110
The State as a subject of private international law	110
§34. The condition of the State as a subject at law and its relevance in private international law	111
§35. On the immunity of the State in general	112
§36. The State in the economy and the evolvement of functional immunity – a historical and comparative survey	115
§37. Immunity as regulated in Hungarian law
 Chapter XI	 119
The State as architect of international economic relations (Foreign trade monopoly)	119
§38. On the role of the State and foreign trade monopoly in general	124
§39. Shaping the international conditions of the Hungarian external economy	130
§40. Developing the internal organizational structure of the external economy	140
§41. Managing the external economy
 Chapter XII	 150
Juristic persons	150
§42. Juristic persons in international economic relations, and law	151
§43. Juristic persons in private international law: the personal law and national-ity of juristic persons; the control theory
 Chapter XIII	 156
The legal status of foreigners	156
§44. On the legal status of foreigners in general	157
§45. National treatment and reciprocity	160
§46. The most-favoured-nation clause	165
§47. The legal status of foreign natural persons in Hungary	167
§48. Foreign companies and joint ventures in Hungary

TITLE 4 PROPERTY

Chapter XIV
The role of property in international transactions and general questions of its regulation	179

§49. The role of property in the past and at present	179
§50. The features of legal regulation	182
Chapter XV
Property in Hungarian private international law	183
§51. The lex situs as the principal rule	183
§52. Exceptions	184
§53. Scope of application of the connecting factors governing property	187
Chapter XVI
Different systems of property and nationalization	190
§54. An overall view of legal problems in the different systems of property	190
§55. A survey of legal attitudes to nationalization	192
Chapter XVII
The protection of foreign investments and property in contemporary international economic relations	198
§56. Contradictions in the background of proposed protective devices	198
§57. International protective arrangements	199
§58. Solutions under national laws	202
Chapter XVIII
Ownership problems of intra-CMEA joint economic organizations	204
§59. Ownership problems of the organizations in question	204
§60. Approaches to solutions and refinements	206
TITLE 5
THE LAW OF OBLIGATIONS
Chapter XIX
General questions of contracts and liability	211
§61. Contracts versus the law of obligations – problems of delimitation	211
§62. Contracts in the law – a historical and comparative survey	212
§63. Issues to be discussed	215
Chapter XX
Contracts in private international law	216
§64. Historical antecedents and the Hungarian regulation	216
§65. The Hungarian conflict rules of contract (lex obligationis)	221
Chapter XXI
Liability for non-contractual damage, unjust enrichment	228
§66. Delictual liability (torts) in private international law	228
§67. The Hungarian regulation	230
§68. Unjust enrichment	232

TITLE 6

TYPES OF CONTRACTS

Chapter XXII

A summary view of the major types of foreign trade contracts	237
§69. The foreign trade contract and its major types	237
§70. The special rules of Hungarian civil law on foreign trade contracts	238

Chapter XXIII

International sale	240
§71. The notion of international sale and the determination of applicable law	240
§72. Efforts at the unification of the law of international sale	241
§73. Standard contracts; international commercial usages; 'Incoterms' 1953-1980	243

Chapter XXIV

The CMEA general conditions of delivery	246
§74. History and legal character	246
§75. The legal nature of GCD norms	248
§76. Scope of application	250
§77. Formation of contract and determination of its content	251
§78. Liability for breach of contract	252
§79. Legal disputes and settlement of claims	255

Chapter XXV

Locatio conductio operis , carriage and forwarding	256
§80. Contracts of locatio conductio operis (contractor's contract)	256
§81. The 1973 CMEA General Conditions of Installation Services and those of Technical Services	257
§82. Carriage of goods	258
§83. Forwarding	260
§84. Cooperation contracts — turn-key projects	260

Chapter XXVI

International payment transactions	266
§85. International money debts; payment transactions	266
§86. Bills of exchange; checks	268

TITLE 7

BACKGROUND TO THE INTERNATIONAL PROTECTION OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Chapter XXVII

The fundamentals of international copyright law	273
---	-----

§87. Sources	273
§88. The essence of international copyright protection	275

Chapter XXVIII

An outline of the international protection of industrial property	279
§89. The Paris Union for the protection of industrial property	279
§90. International protection of patents	280
§91. International trademark protection	281
§92. International protection of indications of origin	282
§93. International protection of industrial designs	283

TITLE 8

SUCCESSION

Chapter XXIX

International succession law	287
§94. Succession in private international law; the law of succession	287
§95. Regulation of inheritance in Hungarian private international law	291

TITLE 9

INTERNATIONAL FAMILY LAW

Chapter XXX

The sources of the Hungarian international family law	301
§96. The conflict rules of the Code—international treaties	301
§97. Relationship between the sources of law	303

Chapter XXXI

Marriage in international family law	304
§98. Conclusion and validity of marriage	304
§99. Personal and property relations as between spouses	306
§100. Dissolution of marriage	308

Chapter XXXII

Rules on kinship in international family law	310
§101. Family status	310
§102. Adoption	311
§103. Legal relations as between parents and children	311
§104. Application of the law more favourable to the child	312
§105. Maintenance of relatives	313

Chapter XXXIII

Guardianship and curatorship in international family law	314
§106. Guardianship	314
§107. Curatorship	314

TITLE 10
INTERNATIONAL LABOUR LAW

Chapter XXXIV

International labour law	319
§108. Some general aspects of international labour law	319
§109. Regulation in private international law	321
§110. Peremptory rules of substantive law on employment abroad	323
§111. International regulations of relevance to Hungary	325

TITLE 11
JURISDICTION, PROCEDURE, FOREIGN DECISIONS

Chapter XXXV

Jurisdiction	331
§112. The question of jurisdiction in international litigations	331
§113. The types of jurisdiction	333

Chapter XXXVI

Procedure	339
§114. On procedure in general	339
§115. The main rules of procedure in domestic and international legislation	340
§116. International legal assistance	341
§117. International arbitration	342

Chapter XXXVII

Recognition and enforcement of foreign decisions	347
§118. On the recognition and enforcement of foreign decisions in general	347
§119. National regulation	349
§120. International treaties	352
§121. Enforcement in Hungary	354

Appendix

Law-Decree No. 13 of 1979 of the Presidential Council of the Hungarian People's Republic on Private International Law (English translation of the Hungarian PIL-Code)	355
Chapter I: General rules	355
Chapter II: Persons	356
Chapter III: Law of intellectual property	358
Chapter IV: Property law and related rights	358
Chapter V: Law of obligations	359
Chapter VI: Law of inheritance	361
Chapter VII: Family law	361
Chapter VIII: Labour law	364

Chapter IX: Jurisdiction	364
Chapter X: Rules of procedural law	366
Chapter XI: Recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments	366
Final provisions	367
List of sources	369
1. Major sources of law cited in this volume	369
(A) Internal laws and regulations	369
(B) Bilateral international treaties	371
(C) Major multilateral international treaties and conventions to which Hungary is a party	372
(D) Principal foreign codes or published drafts of private international law	373
(E) Draft legislations and other sources of a normative character	374
2. Major books and treatises	374