

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Acknowledgements	viii
Notes on Contributors	x
1 From Realism to the Affective Turn: An Agenda Iain McCalman and Paul A. Pickering	1
2 '... Just as It would have been in 1861': Stuttering Colonial Beginnings in ABC's Outback House Anja Schwarz	18
3 'Recreating Chaos': Jeremy Deller's The Battle of Orgreave Katie Kitamura	39
4 On Being a Mobile Monument: Historical Reenactments and Commemorations Stephen Gapps	50
5 What should We Do about Slavery? Slavery, Abolition and Public History James Walvin	63
6 Reenactment and Neo-Realism John Brewer	79
7 Textual Realism and Reenactment Jonathan Walker	90
8 'No Witnesses. No Leads. No Problems': The Reenactment of Crime and Rebellion Paul A. Pickering	109
9 R. G. Collingwood, Historical Reenactment and the Early Music Revival Kate Bowan	134
10 'From Wigwam to White Lights': Popular Culture, Politics, and the Performance of Native North American Identity in the Era of Assimilationism Ruth B. Phillips and Trudy Nicks	159

11	Mimic Toil: Eighteenth-Century Preconditions for the Modern Historical Reenactment	180
	Simon During
12	Loutherbourg's Simulations: Reenactment and Realism in Late-Georgian Britain	200
	Iain McCalman
	Index	218