

Contents

Preface to the Third Edition	ix
Acknowledgments	xvii
Part I: Introduction
1 The Mind and Politics	3
2 The Worldview Problem for American Politics	24
Part II: Moral Conceptual Systems
3 Experiential Morality	41
4 Keeping the Moral Books	44
5 Strict Father Morality	65
6 Nurturant Parent Morality	108
Part III: From Family-Based Morality to Politics
7 Why We Need a New Understanding of American Politics	143
8 The Nature of the Model	153
9 Moral Categories in Politics	162

Part IV: The Hard Issues

10	Social Programs and Taxes	179
11	Crime and the Death Penalty	197
12	Regulation and the Environment	210
13	The Culture Wars: From Affirmative Action to the Arts	222
14	Two Models of Christianity	245
15	Abortion	263
16	How Can You Love Your Country and Hate Your Government?	271

Part V: Summing Up

17	Varieties of Liberals and Conservatives	283
18	Pathologies, Stereotypes, and Distortions	310
19	Can There Be a Politics without Family Values?	322

Part VI: Who's Right? And How Can You Tell?

20	Nonideological Reasons for Being a Liberal	335
21	Raising Real Children	339
22	The Human Mind	366
23	Basic Humanity	379
	Epilogue: Problems for Public Discourse	384
	Afterword, 2002	389
	Afterword, 2016	427
	References	447
	Index	473