

Table of Contents

Introduction. Historical Politics: Eastern European Convolutions in the 21st Century Alexei Miller . . . . .	1
German History Politics and the National Socialist Past Stefan Berger . . . . .	21
Poland's Institute of National Remembrance: A Ministry of Memory? Dariusz Stola . . . . .	45
Jedwabne, July 10, 1941: Debating the History of a Single Day Maciej Janowski . . . . .	59
The Memory of Trianon as a Political Instrument in Hungary Today Gábor Gyáni . . . . .	91
The "Politics of History" as a Case of Foreign-Policy Making Alexander Astrov . . . . .	117
The "Nationalization" of History in Ukraine Georgiy Kasianov . . . . .	141
The "Politics of Memory" and "Historical Policy" in Post-Soviet Moldova Andrei Cusco . . . . .	175
Interventions: Challenging the Myths of Twentieth-Century Ukrainian History John-Paul Himka . . . . .	211

Caught Between History and Politics: The Experience of a Moldovan Historian Studying the Holocaust Diana Dumitru .....	239
The Turns of Russian Historical Politics, from Perestroika to 2011 Alexei Miller .....	253
Politics of History in Turkey: Revisionist Historiography's Challenge to the Official Version of the Turkish War of Liberation (1919–1922) Şener Aktürk .....	279
The Politics of History in Contemporary Japan Jeff Kingston .....	309
List of Contributors .....	347
Index .....	349