

Contents

Introduction: the state of class analysis Rosemary Crompton and John Scott	1
Employment relations and class structure Aage B. Sørensen	16
Social position from narrative data Jonathan Gershuny	43
Class inequality and the social production of money Geoffrey Ingham	66
Social polarization in the electronic economy Jan Pahl	87
Logics of urban polarization: the view from below Loïc Wacquant	107
Employment, unemployment and social polarization: young people and cyclical transitions Robert MacDonald and Jane Marsh	120
Late twentieth century workplace relations: class struggle without classes Paul Edwards	141
The gendered restructuring of the middle classes: employment and caring Rosemary Crompton	165
Conclusion: renewing class analysis Fiona Devine and Mike Savage	184
Notes on contributors	200
Index	203