

CONTENTS

Preface xv

Acknowledgements xvii

Introduction 1

PART ONE Exploring the concepts of learning culture and learning organization 9

---

01 Where did a learning culture come from? 11

Context 11

The link between organizational culture and learning culture 12

The change of CEO at Microsoft 14

Organizational culture and learning culture 17

Building learning cultures: a conversation with Naomi Lockwood 19

Using the ART model 23

Summary 27

Learning and innovation 27

Developing a learning culture using Marcia's Conner's inventory of a learning organization 28

Marcia Conner's parameters 29

Looking wider: Kofman, Bersin and Towards Maturity 30

Towards Maturity and Laura Overton interview 34

What can you take from this chapter? 41

References 43

02 Senge and *The Fifth Discipline 45

Introduction 45

Context 46

What is The Fifth Discipline? 48

What are the five disciplines? 49

Seven learning disabilities	53
Senge's 11 laws	56
Conclusion	58
Key learning	60
References	62

03 Bob Garratt and The Learning Organization 63

Context and introduction	63
Learning and the workplace	65
Learning and the rise of the smart worker	67
The development of conscious and continuous learning	69
The six pre-conditions for a learning organization	70
How do people excel at work?	74
Is the idea of a learning organization dead?	75
How to build a learning organization	76
Polaroid and sensitivity to change in the external environment	78
Learning and agility	79
Conclusions	83
Garratt and Senge	84
What can we learn from Senge and Garratt?	85
Key learning	86
References	87

04 What are the core components of a learning culture? 89

Introduction	89
Part 1: What are the key components of a learning culture?	90
Collaboration and innovation	91
Intrinsic and extrinsic motivation and collaboration	99
Defining collaborative organizations	100
Part 2: Common mission, vision and purpose – a conversation with Kelly Palmer	102
Part 3: The core underpinning process: trust – a conversation with Julian Stodd	111
Conclusions	115
Key learning	118
References	119

PART TWO Case studies: learning culture in action 121

---

05 Lubricating learning: a case study of the WD-40 Company 123

Introduction 123

Learning and values 127

The learning culture 129

What is the company like to work for? 133

The leadership approach 134

How to build a learning organization: lessons from the WD-40 Company 135

Conclusions 141

References 143

06 Happy Ltd and HT2: learning culture in action 144

The background to Happy Ltd 144

The happy ethos 145

What do the staff think? 150

HT2 Labs: how enabling learning enables a learning organization 152

A conversation with Emma Sephton, product manager at HT2 156

Conclusions 158

Does being happy at work align to a learning culture? 159

What are the key lessons that you can take away? 163

References 164

PART THREE Building a learning culture: a gyroscope for organizational effectiveness 165

---

07 Work and learning 167

A model for the development of a learning organization 168

How do we understand a learning culture? 173

Explaining the model 174

References 176

08 Why technology is an essential component of a learning culture 177

Setting the scene 177

The inflection point has been reached 180

Machine intelligence: algorithms and personalization 182

Learning and media distribution models converge 184

The nature of the learning landscape 190

What are the trends in technology? 190

Sixteen key elements of a learning culture 192

How do you implement technology effectively? 196

Conclusions: working out what is needed and making progress 204

References 207

09 What are the essential components of a learning culture? 208

Where to start and how to move forward 211

Ten steps to build a learning culture inside a learning organization 214

What can we learn from Senge and Garratt? 216

Ten tips for moving forwards 218

References 220

Further reading 221

Index 223