

Contents

Acknowledgments	Page xiii
Table of cases	xv
Table of treaties	xxi
Table of legislation	xxiv
Table of international materials	xxviii

Introduction	1
---------------------	---

Part I	15
---------------	----

1 Models of accommodation	17
Classical models of accommodation	17
The Roman dictatorship	17
The French "state of siege": origins	26
Martial law in the United Kingdom: origins	30
Constitutional accommodation	35
Emergency provisions in constitutional documents	35
Constitutional necessity	46
The authority to declare an emergency	54
Legal results of a declaration of a state of emergency	58
Checks and balances	62
Legislative accommodation	66
Modifying ordinary laws	66
Special emergency legislation	67
Interpretive accommodation	72
"Each crisis brings its word and deed"	79

2	Law for all seasons	86
	Ex parte Milligan	89
	Holding the line	94
	A strategy of resistance	98
	Myths, symbolism, and ideals	101
	Slippery slopes	103
	Perceptions and misperceptions	105
3	Models of extra-legality	110
	Ethic of political responsibility	113
	Emergency jurisdiction and temporary measures in
	Jewish law	113
	Locke's theory of the prerogative power	119
	"Casting behind metaphysical subtleties"	123
	Dicey's "spirit of legality"	130
	Searching for "moral politicians"	132
	Disobedience and ratification	134
	Official disobedience	134
	Ex post ratification	137
	No security without law	142
	The case for rule departures	146
	Prospective and uncertain relief	147
	Courts and legislatures	153
	Giving reasons	155
	Ratifying egregious actions?	156
	Precedents	159
	Carl Schmitt's dark shadow	162
	Carl Schmitt's theory of the exception	162
	Decisionism and the Extra-Legal Measures model	169
4	Five degrees of separation	171
	Normalcy and emergency: rule and exception	172
	Sequencing and temporal distinctions: separating the best and the worst of times	174
	It's a bad world out there (I): spatial distinctions	181
	Colonies and empire: the origins of DORA	181
	The curtailment of the right to silence in the
	United Kingdom	183
	Interrogation in depth in Finchley?	188
	From l'Algérie française to la France algérienne	190

	The war on terror: Guantanamo and beyond	202
	It's a bad world out there (II): domestic and foreign affairs	205
	The distinct sphere of "national security"	214
	Communal divisions: us vs. them	220
	The normalization of the exception	228
Part II		245
5	International human rights and emergencies	247
	Definitions of emergency	249
	Application of the models: Business as Usual	252
	Application of the models: accommodation	255
	International accommodation: constitutional and legislative	256
	Models of accommodation: interpretive accommodation	263
	The gap between the theory and practice of emergency powers	304
	The Questiaux Report	306
	Paris Minimum Standards	310
	The Siracusa Principles: an attempt at concrete rules to limit abuse of emergencies	313
	Weakness of the "aberration" hypothesis	315
	Artificiality of formal emergencies	318
	The hidden emergency	320
	Concluding assessment	322
6	Emergencies and humanitarian law	326
	Self-preservation, necessity, and self-defense in international law	328
	Internal armed conflicts and emergencies	339
	High-intensity emergencies	341
	Low-intensity conflict	350
	Overlapping regimes: high meets low	359
	Conclusion	363
7	Terrorism, emergencies, and international responses to contemporary threats	365
	General issues of definition and applicable legal regimes	366
	Defining terrorism	366

Models of emergency powers as applied to terrorism	371
The "terrorism and law" interface	384
The regulation of terrorism by international humanitarian law	385
International legal responses post-September 11	394
Suppression conventions	394
The UN response to September 11	400
Implementing Resolution 1373	402
Human rights and other lacunae in operating Resolution 1373	405
Contextualizing the UN response	407
The European Framework Decision on Terrorism	409
Definitional issues arising from the Framework Decision	414
State responses to Resolution 1373 and the European Framework Decision	417
Conclusion	420
Bibliography	422
Index	469